ROGERS DECIDES CALIFORNIA FLOPS AS A 'GO-GETTER'

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 4.—Say, California didn't get over so big. We fed Mr. Coolidge and bragged on him and showed him everything we had out here and he went straight back to Massachusetts and bought him a home. He has got some political devilment on his mind back there.

We got one good delegation out. They are down in Mexico looking over that auto road that will eventually run down Mexico's beautiful west coast, from Portland to Panama. At the present time our automobile communications end with Mexico, and the north end of the first bar over the line.

The idea of this road is to have it so long that Americans will have to pass by some bars without stopping.

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Mary DeBack and Antoinette DeCervo reported to Pa New this morning that they saw a red cardinal Thursday afternoon in the Gardner avenue district.

The religious editor was presented today with a straw basket, a souvenir of Central Africa, which was brought home by Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Shirer, returned missionaries.

Lawrence County Garden club is conducting a contest in order to get a name for the sycamore tree on the public square. The contest is open to all school children of the county and closes on May 1. Much interest is being shown in the contest.

Probably the weighing scales the most used in the city, are the scales at the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium. The reducing classes meet every week and one of their main interests are those scales in the health director's office.

Men are still busy planting the hedge around the public square. Most of the work is completed, but some finishing up touches are being made. The hedge is quite bare of any foliage, of course, but it won't be long until the buds come out and the hedge will have thousands of little green leaves. A number of trees have also been planted on the Diamond.

Pa New has notices that steam rollers and cranes are built to make better time traveling, than they formerly were. And then, too, it seems that they are built to be quite a lot less noisy.

Very little work has been done on the fill in work at the new bridge on the Elwood road, at Cascade Park. The workmen say that the weather conditions have been unfavorable.

Easter is two weeks from next Sunday.

Are there any cases of Spring fever in our midst?

City nurses are busy scooting around to the various schools in the vicinity helping in toxin-anti-toxin work.

Council Authorizes Paint Cost Release

Today council met at city hall and authorizes the issuance of a release to the P. & L. E. railroad company for $2,600, their share of painting Gardner avenue viaduct. The company will pay the city but they requested a release so that the account could be closed.

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning are as follows:

Probe Fireworks Company Tragedy, Death Toll Is Ten

Inquest Called By Coroner To Determine Cause Of Fatal Blast At Devon, Pa.

OFFICIALS WILL BE QUESTIONED

Eight One-Story Buildings Totally Demolished By Terrific Explosions

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—With the little industrial plant of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Corporation at Devon, near here, literally blown off the face of the earth, Chester county authorities today resumed their probe of the explosion which snuffed out ten lives and injured scores of others yesterday.

A barren, seven-acre tract of charred ashes, marking the site of one of Devon's principal industries, was all that remained today of the eight one-story buildings that comprised the plant's structures.

Inquest Called
Bodies of the ten victims were borne to a little mortuary at Malvern awaiting an inquest injured by the series of deafening blasts, were reported as in a "fair condition" at Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Identification of the bodies was completed at the temporary morgue this morning. Throughout the night friends and relatives torn between fear and hope, visited the mortuary. Pitiful scenes were enacted as wife, or father, or mother had fears confirmed.

Meanwhile, pending the inquest scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, sorrow-stricken residents of Devon began the task of repairing the physical havoc wrought by the explosions. The streets of the little village presented a scene of indescribable confusion. Telegraph poles and trees lay in a twisted, tangled mass, and roofs of the little frame dwellings occupied by the workmen had been torn away as though by a giant scythe.

Question Officials
Coroner Ford has summoned Alexander Vardaro, president and manager of the plant, his daughter, Antoinette, and a son, Victor, as the principal witnesses for the inquest today. The coroner planned to ask the Vardaros concerning reports that 30 kegs of powder had been received at the plant shortly before the disaster.

Miss Vardaro said that five kegs comprised the usual amount of powder.

Dayton Bank Is Robbed By Thugs

Between $50,000 And $60,000 In Cash Secured By Six Armed Bandits Today

(International News Service)
DAYTON, Ohio, April 4.—Six armed bandits held up the Xenia Avenue branch of the Union Trust Company here today, herded patrons and bank officials into the rear of the bank, and escaped with between $50,000 and $60,000 in currency.

Philip Kloos, the manager of the branch bank, and the cashier and a teller were forced to lie on the floor while the bandits looted the vaults and money drawers.

The British negotiations aimed at giving France the Mediterranean security she desires are threatened with failure, as Italy, through its Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, has declared to participate in any political pact based upon interpretation of the League of Nations Covenant. Such interpretation, Grandi believes, should be discussed at Geneva and has no place in the London conference.

Italy Seeks Parity
The British negotiations aimed at giving France the Mediterranean security she desires are threatened with failure, as Italy, through its Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, has declared to participate in any political pact based upon interpretation of the League of Nations Covenant. Such interpretation, Grandi believes, should be discussed at Geneva and has no place in the London conference.

In addition, Grandi steadily adheres to his demand for naval parity with France. With hopes of a Five-Power treaty thus waning, the American delegation is prepared to urge immediate formulation of a Three-Power treaty between Great Britain, the United States and Japan, leaving a loophole open until the last moment for Italian and French participation.

The Anglo-American-Japanese agreement sanctioned here yesterday includes a provision permitting Britain to exceed her 150,000-ton destroyer total if the French increase their submarine fleet as provided in the present program. The United States would make a corresponding and Japan a proportionate increase.

Must Report in 1932
The Americans also have agreed tentatively to inform Britain and Japan by the end of 1932 whether or not they intend to exercise the option of having only fifteen heavy cruisers instead of eighteen.

In that event American's total of light cruisers would be identical with Britain's 139,000-tonnage instead of 143,500 tons, giving Japan a 72 per cent, ratio in heavy cruisers and a 53 per cent, ratio of light cruisers.

The next few days are expected to reveal once for all whether reconciliation of the Franco-Italian differences is possible. If not, a tri-partite treaty will be drawn up, and provision made for its extension into a Five-Power document at some later date.

UNDECIDED ON FATE OF NANCY BOWEN

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 4.—With Mrs. Carmella Corea, 40, dead and her 16-year-old daughter near death in St. John's General hospital here, city and county authorities today began a statewide search for Frank Corea, 42, the woman's husband and step-father of the girl.

Corea was alleged to have killed his wife in climax to a family quarrel and to have wounded the girl Helen DeLallo, 16, when she tried to interfere.

Series Of Quarrels
The shooting was said by neighbors to have been the result of a series of family quarrels between husband and wife over an alleged former marriage of Corea in Italy.

The man was said to have returned home last night from a dentist's appointment, drunk a pint of wine, and then the quarrel began, according to neighbors.

Helen, who was playing with two other girls down in the basement of the home at the time, heard the shot fired and shouting to her two playmates.

Hospital Aid Society Renewals Now Due

About a year ago a campaign was made in this city and county for memberships for the James Memorial Hospital Aid Society, and a large number joined.

The memberships were annual, and were to be renewed and the dues voluntarily paid each year. The time has arrived for the renewals and it is the request of those in charge of the society that the dues be sent to Mrs. Norman A. Martin, 136 Fairfield avenue, at once.

The hospital aid society function is to help supply linens needed at the hospital, and last year something like $2,400 was raised by the organization for this purpose. This amount should be duplicated or exceeded this year.

All who joined last year should send in their renewals and any others who may desire to aid can contribute.

Prompt attention of members to this matter of dues will be appreciated by the officers of the aid society, and will also aid in a most worthy local cause.

LUNCHEON TABLE DISCUSSION TODAY

Italy Steadfastly Refuses To Accept Terms Other Than Parity With France

LONDON, April 4.—A luncheon table in a fashionable hotel here today formed the setting for one of the most critical phases of the London Naval Conference.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson were the guests of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France. They discussed in great detail the deadlock over the demands of Italy which now darken the hopes of formulating a Five-Power disarmament treaty.

BATTLE FOR DONNIE IS NOT YET ENDED

(Special To The News)
WHEELING, W. Va., April 4.—Homer Schroeder, father of little Donnie Schroeder, son of Irene Schroeder, "blonde" killer, sentenced to death along with her lover Glen Dague for the murder of State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul, at New Castle, is to demand custody of his child.

Minter Schroeder, brother of Homer today made a statement in which he said that he had received a letter from him from Amarillo, Texas a few weeks ago in which he stated that as soon as the case at New Castle was settled that he was coming back to Wheeling. He further enclosed a diary, a bundle of receipts showing that he had paid for the care of Donnie and that he had never refused to support Irene as long as she had lived with him.

Donnie was given into the custody of Martha Schoenian, sister of Irene on Tuesday by Judge John S. Ritz, of the Ohio County Intermediate court.

Minter Schroeder produced receipts signed by Irene, by Mrs. Schoenian, her husband V. L. Schoenian and others of the family showing that he paid $7 a week for Donnie's care up until November 1929. Homer also stated that Irene and Glen visited him at Gary, Indiana in November, 1929 and received $45 in cash from him and he holds their receipt for same.

Attorney Margiotti Lauded At Testimonial Banquet Last Night

Large Crowd At The Castle-Ton To Honor Special State Counsel

Margiotti Pays Tribute To Lawrence County Court In Remarks

Pride of ancestry and admiration of ability joined hands Thursday evening, when Attorney Charles J. Margiotti of Punxsutawney, Pa., special counsel in the cases against Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague, was tendered a testimonial dinner by the Wolves. The dinner was held in The Castleton, and spacious as the ball room is, it was too small to hold the diners, many being served in the main dining room.

It was a pretty tribute to an able attorney, a public manifestation of the esteem in which Mr. Margiotti is held in this city, and the sponsorship of the affair was in capable hands. The members of the Wolves and Mr. Margiotti trace their ancestry back to the same country, Italy, and while almost every man present Thursday evening is American born, yet there is binding them together a bond of fellowship founded upon a common lineage.

Many Cities Represented
The testimonial was not confined to men and women from New Castle alone. Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Erie, Cleveland, New York, Butler, Niles, Hillsville, Wampum, Ellwood City, Indiana, Greensburg, Punxsutawney, all of them had representatives present and all of them joined with the New Castle Wolves in showing in a very definite manner that such work as that done by Mr. Margiotti should not go unnoticed.

Rev. Fr. N. De Mita, pastor of St. Vitus church opened the evening with a Divine blessing upon those gathered about the banquet board. During the progress of the dinner, Pete Iodice had the crowd singing with Judy Sypher and his orchestra providing the accompaniment.

As the dessert was finished, the diners who were forced into the main dining room because of the crowd in (Continued On Page Two)

Marchand To Be Liberated

Artist Husband Of Murdered Woman To Be Given Liberty

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—Henri Marchand artist husband of the murdered Clothilde Marchand, will be freed from the Erie County jail—probably late today—it was indicated by District Attorney Guy B. Moore, who prosecuted Lila Jimerson, the "Red Lilac of the Cayugas," for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Marchand.

Marchand's release will be an aftermath to the action of Miss Jimerson's action yesterday in pleading guilty to a reduced charge of second degree murder, a development which was exclusively indicated by International News Service thirty six hours earlier. Lila, sweetheart of Marchand, now faces a sentence of from twenty years to life in prison.

For several weeks Marchand had been held in jail as a material witness. During Lila's trial he took the stand and denied he had any knowledge of the plot to kill his wife. The actual commission of the crime was admitted by Nancy Bowen, sixty six year old Indian woman friend of Lila's who said Lila told her Mrs. Marchand was a "witch."

Four Young Men Are Given Life In Penitentiary

OTHER PRISONERS GET HEAVY SENTENCES

Numerous Sentences Passed By Judges Hildebrand And Chambers This Morning

Jack McDevitt, William Grimm, Charles Lewellyn and Jesse Martin, guilty of murder in the first degree, in connection with the death of Clark Rea, Neshannock township farmer, were sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning.

All of the young men received their sentences without any show of emotion. Attorneys made a few brief remarks in which they stated that they realized that the court was without any discretion as to the sentences in view of the verdicts and pleas entered. They stated that the young men are now deeply penitent, and have assured officials that they will endeavor to be model prisoners. Hope was expressed that some time the young men might get out.

The crime for which they were convicted was the shooting of Clark Rea in his home in Neshannock township, where they had gone for the purpose of robbery. Martin and Grimm stood trial. McDevitt and Lewellyn entered pleas.

Both Judges On Bench.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers were both on the bench, when court convened, each judge taking part in the sentencing of prisoners. Only a small audience was present composed mostly of friends of the prisoners. Sentences were passed as follows:—

Mike Paglia; breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a felony, $25 fine and costs and from one to five years in penitentiary. Paglia entered a plea to breaking into the Sutton Service Station at the corner of South Mill and Lutton streets.

In sentencing him Judge Chambers said that outlawry and banditry is becoming too common, and it may be that the courts have been too lenient in dealing with criminals.

George Powell, possessing liquor, paroled for two years, on payment of costs. It was stated Powell has been addicted to narcotics for 20 years, and is willing to take the narcotic cure but physicians are not sure he can stand it. He suffers from asthma.

Power Project Vote Is Sought To End Bugaboo

Muscle Shoals Project For Federal Control Has

Years

SENATOR NORRIS LEADS ACTION

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Hoping to be rid of a legislative orphan that has lain on the capitol doorstep for ten years, administration leaders planned to rush a final vote today on the Norris bill for government operation of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project.

Opponents of government operation were rallying behind an amendment, sponsored by Senator Black (D) of Alabama, which would authorize leasing of the project to a private corporation for the manufacture of fertilizer. This plan would utilize virtually all the power at the site and minimize the importance of the huge dam for the production of commercial electricity.

Norris Leads Action.
Led by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, advocates of government operation will seek to keep the project entirely within the control of a federal corporation. Under this plan, the government would use the power at Muscle Shoals for fertilizer experiments, and manufacture fertilizer only if it proved profitable. The surplus power at all times would be distributed with preference to states, counties and municipalities, under a policy of rationing it equitably among states within "transmission distance."

This provision for disposition of surplus power would not be touched by the Black amendment, so it undoubtedly will be retained in the bill. An appropriation of $10,000,000 would be authorized, so the federal corporation could start work immediately.

A separate provision would authorize the construction of a dam at Cove Creek on the Clinch river, some 300 miles from Muscle Shoals.

TO THE VOTERS

My attention has been called to the platform of a candidate for the Republican nomination for the General Assembly, in which he states that he is opposed to Prohibition and that if elected will vote for the repeal of the 18th Amendment and the Snyder Act.

I also am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the General Assembly. While my position on this question is a matter of record, yet I feel that it is only fair that I again state that position, in view of the fact that the issue has been injected into this campaign.

I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th Amendment or the Snyder Act and if nominated and elected to the General Assembly, will vote against all legislation looking towards the repeal or the weakening of either.

Owns Letter Written Some 125 Years Ago

Wright Exhibits Curious
Over Hundred Years Old

Yellow with age, but with ink just slightly faded, an old letter, owned by Arthur Wright, of near Lowellville and well known in this city carries with it, a vivid insight into things as they were 125 years ago.

It was written August 23, 1805 by Jeremiah Simpson, to Alexander Wright. The latter lived on the banks of the Mahoning, near Hillsville. The letter was delivered by James McNary, who was making a trip through this neck of the woods.

The entire letter is interesting, but one part immediately draws attention. Mr. Simpson speaks of using oil from a spring of Alexander Wright's in hopes of curing his rheumatism. In those days, there were few uses for oil.

The letter and oil put into the care of the Rev. M. Allison I got by the hand of Mr. Ramsey, all in good order. In this you show that there is nothing relating to my soul or body but is the object of your care. From the information you gave me of the efficiency of the oil that came from your spring, this induced me to send to Pittsburgh for what they call Seneca oil. This I got about the first of April and used it for about ten weeks, all to no purpose.

I made immediate application of that sent by you, but alas I see neither good either of them hath done."

The bulk of the letter is taken up with news of things which had happened near the Simpson home, during the past several months. He told of several suicides and of a minister who had behaved unbefitting in his position. He also told of making woolen in the loom and "wroughtings" a few yards of linen.

Arthur Wright has another letter written November 4, 1788—just 160 years ago. The letter was written from Philadelphia, when that city was the capital of Pennsylvania.

Then, Mr. Wright has another interesting thing—the account book of a weaver. The book is bound with a stiff, crackly skin, and the figures are all written in pounds and shillings. This was made out in 1800. The diligent weaver had designed a "snowball cording" pattern, on one of the pages.

"FIGURED"

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

After telescope mirror has been ground to proper spherical surface, the next step in giving it the final form is to deepen the spherical surface into a paraboloid surface, for all telescopic mirrors have to be so figured for gathering the light of a celestial object. Preparation for this is made by making a mat of pitch. Melted pitch is poured over the "tool" of convex glass on which the mirror has been ground; a stiff collar of paper having first been bound around the "tool." When the pitch is flowing off, keep the pitch in set, parallel grooves an inch apart are cut across the mat, dividing the mat into squares. (More Tomorrow) der kept on hand. It was reported that a truck driver who delivered the 30 kegs refused to return the other 25 and that they were placed in the storehouse.

Considerable speculation was aroused over the cause of the blast. One report was that friction caused by rubbing together some of the finished fireworks stored in the center building where the first detonation occurred resulted in the explosions.

The first blast in the center building is believed to have caused the dislodging of fireworks in the other structures. Every building in the plant was demolished by the rapid succession of blasts.

ATTORNEY MARGIOTTI AT BANQUET

the ball room, were brought in for the speaking program and David D. Valenti, president of the Wolves opened the speaking program with a short address. In it he welcomed the guests, expressed his pleasure at the size of the crowd, and assured every one present that they were there for two things, to honor Mr. Margiotti and to enjoy themselves.

Anthony Marino, Toastmaster As he concluded his remarks, President Valenti turned the meeting over to the chairman of the program committee, Anthony Marino, who acted in the capacity of toastmaster. Before introducing the speakers, Mr. Marino presented a program of entertainment, all of it good. Listed among the entertainers were Miss Esther Gibbon, soprano soloist who was accompanied by her sister, Miss Emma Gibbons, Mary Lou Ray, tap dancer, Cecelia McCoy, aesthetic dancer, Tulio Calazza and Al Evans in a comic duo, after which Mr. Evans sang, Harry Masters, bass solo, Dorothy Fletcher soloist, Keystone quartet, Albert McCormick, athletic dance, Alanna Morgan, aesthetic dance, and those two mirth masters in burnt cork, Joe Love and Harry Elwell.

Angelo Cassacchia was the first speaker of the evening and speaking of the history of the two Romans of mythological fame, Romulus and Remus, he drew a parallel between their courage and valor and that of the men who had turned that courage and valor into the pursuits of peace. It was a cleverly constructed address, well delivered and most fitting to the occasion.

District Attorney Powers

Mr. Cassacchia then introduced the district attorney of Lawrence County, J. S. Powers, who in his first term of criminal court had more first degree murder verdicts returned than had been returned in the past ten years. Mr. Powers spoke in a humorous vein, deftly touching some of the men present with his shafts of wit and at the close of his address introduced two of Mr. Margiotti's associates, Attorneys Sebastian Pugliese and Edward Friedman who were in the Schroeder and Dague trials.

Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand was next called upon and while he spoke but briefly he paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Margiotti's ability. "He leaves here with the respect and honor of the court," said Judge Hildebrand.

Judge James A. Chambers followed Judge Hildebrand and he too paid tribute to the work of the man from Punxsutawney. "His cases were not in my court," said Judge Chambers, "but I know from having watched him work that the reason for his success lies not so much in inspiration as it does in perspiration. He is an example to young Americans of what hard work will accomplish."

Deputy Attorney General

Deputy Attorney General Edward Petrillo came from Harrisburg to pay his tribute to his friend and said that when the state department looked over the commonwealth to find a man they knew would get results they selected Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, who Mr. Petrillo characterized as "the best attorney in the state."

Mr. Margiotti was the last speaker of the evening. As he arose to speak the crowd rose with him, and in a gale of applause demonstrated in a fit fashion their opinion of him. As the applause died away, Mr. Margiotti opened his address.

As he started he was visibly impressed with the homage that had been paid him. One thing above all touched him deeply and this was a gorgeous bouquet of roses sent by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, who although pitted against Mr. Margiotti in the arena, has his friendship. "Such a tribute as this," said Margiotti "can never be forgotten, and this little note that came with the roses, I shall always keep." Business engagements prevented Mr. Dickey's being present.

Law Enforcement

"Law Enforcement" might well have been termed the subject of Mr. Margiotti's address. In it he pleaded for the observance and enforcement of all laws. The fact that a law may not be popular with you is no reason why you should disobey it," said he. "There is an orderly way in which to right such things if there is need for their righting, but while the laws are on the books of the nation and the state, it is your duty and my duty to observe them and see that they are enforced."

"Let me say before I leave New Castle, that never in my experience have I seen courts conducted in the manner in which your Lawrence County courts are conducted. Orderly and dignified, they reflect a wholesome attitude towards laws and courts, and before I leave I want to pay my tribute to the judges of Lawrence County for the splendid, dignified manner in which they conduct their courts."

"Touching upon the ballot Mr. Margiotti said "it is your duty in your voting to aid the cause of law enforcement, and to help make this country a better place in which to live."

"In my short time in New Castle I have made many friends, friends that I trust I will always keep. Your kindness to me during my stay in your city has been most kind and I shall always appreciate it."

The address of Mr. Margiotti closed the formal program, following which cards were the diversion. It was an evening the guest of honor will not soon forget, a tribute which was well deserved, an affair of which the Wolves can feel proud.

FOR TOURIST BUSINESS HERE

THE tourist industry must not be overlooked in the general move to bring about better business conditions," S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, state unite of the American Automobile Association, said today in urging a definite program for the more extensive development of this trade.

"The tourist crop of America is worth $3,500,000 this year, according to estimates," the federation head stated. "Pennsylvania will get a goodly share of this, but could and would get much more if concerted action were taken to call the attention of the action to what this state has to offer. Other states, some with considerably less in scenic beauties, historic shrines and points of general interest than we have, are capitalizing on the creed of seeing America first. Pennsylvania must take steps to cope with this competition for the tourist trade."

Viewed from the standpoint of cold business policy, the tourist industry is one that means much to any state, Mr. Gable pointed out. "The tourist trade spends millions annually in Pennsylvania," he said, "and it is all in cash. Board, lodging, clothing, supplies, souvenirs, automobile repairs, gasoline and oil—these and other things are bought by the traveler, and he never asks for credit. The average tourist saves throughout the year to accumulate the bank roll he spends in several weeks of sightseeing."

"Pennsylvania not only should strive in a practical way to augment the number of its visitors from afar, but should realize the importance of being cordial and courteous at all times to the stranger within its gates. Far and wide the Keystone state is known for its hospitality and we should make every effort to live up to that reputation. Cordiality not only makes the trip more enjoyable for the traveler, but prompts him to return, and to tell the people back home what a fine place Pennsylvania is. Advertising such as this brings returns that cannot be computed in dollars and cents alone."

"With the annual vacation season about to open, let us all bear in mind that the tourist industry is one to be reckoned with from a financial standpoint and that it will help materially in bettering general business conditions this spring, summer and fall. Viewing it from this standpoint we shall be less likely to look upon the tourist as an outsider speeding along on his way from state to state, but as a friendly traveler who is giving Pennsylvania a share of his trade and thus doing his bit to better business conditions for everyone."

NEW CASTLE JUSTICE

There's a county court in New Castle which has provided the nation with a good precedent in the dispatch of murder trials. A week ago the blonde waitress, formerly of Akron, who had shot a Pennsylvania highway patrolman was put on trial in Judge Hildebrand's court. The court ruled out all effort to make a heroine of the killer. There was no company of experts and psychiatrists on hand to confuse the jury with theories and answers to hypothetical questions. A Youngstown feminine sob writer, who tried to glorify and excuse the efforts of the woman, was put into jail for contempt of the court. Within a few minutes after hearing the charge of the judge the jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder, with no recommendation of mercy. A second jury has convicted in the same degree and upon the same terms the woman's male companion in the killing and the later wild flight across country to the surrender upon an Arizona hilltop.

If every such capital case in this republic were disposed of with the same expedition it would not be necessary to have the public content itself with admiration of the British system of applied justice in murder cases. Yet with all this speeding up of the processes of the court there is no complaint that either of the New Castle convicts did not receive ample opportunity for defense. The result of the trials in the Pennsylvania city merely shows that criminal jurisprudence can be made effective in this nation when there is an able judge upon the bench, and members of the bar association will proceed to practice some of the precepts for which they are forever bellowing in their conventions.—Akron, O., Beacon Journal.

FOG IMPERIALS FLYERS

Thick fogs have delayed virtually every transcontinental and trans-oceanic flight attempt. The recent transcontinental air races were made hazardous by fogs, nature's "smoke screens" forcing several planes down and causing others to lose their course. Fog prevented Commander Byrd from landing the monoplane America after he had successfully flown from New York to Paris. Fog constitutes one of the terrors of aviators, and thus far attempts to combat or dispel it have been unsuccessful.

Years ago, Sir Oliver Lodge thought he had solved the problem of fog dispersal with an electrical apparatus that he set up on his house-top. It didn't work. Repeatedly London has considered blowing away her fogs with high explosives. Attempts failed in Italy. Everything has been experimented with from placing oil in the streams to all sorts of electrical contraptions.

Until means are found to dispel fog aviators must learn to fly through it, aided only by such mechanical contrivances as may serve to make their senses more acute. Lighted beacons with fog-penetrating properties have been developed and promise to be of great service in guiding pilots to safe landings on fogbound fields. The radio beacon, together with the automatic height indicator, fulfills a somewhat similar function. Fog is still the terror of the air.

Mexico's Great Future.
Very Small Planet, But—No Mother Love, No Nation.
Married at Two Years of Age.

R. ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

HODGE, Cal., April 4.—Recent visits to Mexico convince this writer that to help in building Mexico's prosperity would be one way to build United States prosperity. The Mexicans possess an empire of unsurpassed beauty, fertility, mineral and other wealth. The Mexican people are hard, patient and skillful workers, and hundreds of thousands of Mexicans could, and gladly would, learn mechanical skilled trades, well paid.

Some of the billions that our bankers lend so cheerfully to Europe, not always to get them back, could be lent to greater advantage and more safely, to Mexico. To help in building a greater and wealthier Mexico would be to create new and rich markets for the United States.

Every new good road in Mexico would mean many American automobiles sold. Every Mexican helped by credit, to attain prosperity, would mean a new customer for American made goods, pending the building up of all industries in Mexico.

This is the continent that interests us. And the nations that should have our sincere and generous co-operation are our nearest neighbors, Canada on the North, Mexico on the South. To build, North and South, with the aid of our unlimited wealth, the honor and deserved friendship of these two countries, would be to make this North American continent forever invulnerable to attack.

There would be a triple alliance worth while—CANADA, THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO. Neighbors, friends, allies, respecting the rights and contributing to the prosperity of the other two.

Fernand Balbet, French astronomer at Meudon, says the new planet, discovered by an American, is not important, because it is thirty times smaller than the earth. What of it? A human brain is many billions of times smaller than this planet, but it gives the earth all its value. Without human intelligence and eyes to see, it would have no real existence.

Size is nothing. The Bible teaches that many angels could dance on the point of a needle, and science says millions of them really could dance there. The needle point would be a vast ballroom if the angels were as small as atoms. They may be smaller. The Power that rules this universe, which, of course, is not a human-shaped god with beard, hair and feet, may have no size at all. Consider the size of radium, sending out force for centuries and don't despise the new planet.

Russia, forgetting Sparta's history plans a humane and noble order. Children, taken from their mothers in babyhood, will be raised wholesale by the state. Mothers will enter factories and otherwise work the same as men do, or rather, as mares do, on the farm.

Russia should remember that when a mare is valuable, and a fine horse is wanted, the mare is not put to work before the colt is born or afterward. Sparta educated its youth. Trained young men to surprise and murder the miserable Helot slaves, on their way to work at sunrise, that the young men might be fierce in war. Sparta's law use iron for money that no man might care to have much of it.

Fine theories were worked out there as in Russia, but Sparta amounted to little. Athens, taken from their mothers was allowed to develop according to rules not suggested by Draco or Karl Marx, produced Greek grandeur, art, literature and philosophy.

We are wound up at birth, to run in a certain way, our inborn impulses are our main springs, and we cannot remake ourselves. To interfere with the family, with the mother's passionate love of her children, with man's ambition, stimulated by duty to his family, and reverence for his father and mother, is to insure a nation's downfall.

Throughout India, recently, thousands of little girls, from two to ten years of age have been hurriedly married, a majority of them to full grown men in time to escape provisions of a child-marriage law just promulgated throughout all British India. The law does not apply to territories of native princes, gentlemen that submit to British overlords, draw their great revenues, and may do with little girls and others as they please.

No girl under fourteen, no boy under eighteen may be legally married in British India, and there is deep resentment on religious grounds. The Hindu believes that a horrible destiny awaits the female child dying unmarried, even through no fault of her own. In a recent "marriage," the Hindu bride was two years old, the groom an adult. We are shocked at that, but very recently, good Presbyterians here and elsewhere, taught that an infant dying without baptism, through no fault of its own, was damned eternally. What's the difference?

One thing we never could understand is why some people are always trying to help fiendish murderers from suffering the penalty they so richly deserve. In most all notorious cases some apparently unknown friends bobs up somewhere and offers to hire lawyers and do other things to thwart justice. We have our own ideas of such birds. Nine times out of ten those some ones would let a baby starve for a drink of milk.

Tariff Bill May Win Friends After Conference, Say Some

Little Enthusiasm Aroused As Senate Votes For Amended Measure, Though Opinions As To Effect On Business Are Varied

Enthusiasm is lacking as the senate's final mark of approval is placed on the amended tariff measure, over which legislators have been fighting for months. Opinions expressed range from condemnation as the worst bill of the sort ever enacted to suggestion that after conference in the committee from the two houses, it may win friends. It gets some praise, while the several administrative features added are believed to be subject to vigorous attack.

"Now that it goes to conference for the adjustment of differences between house and senate, as expressed in the two versions of the measure," says the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, "it is likely that there will be a trimming of excesses that will develop a product of considerable merit. The final verdict, one may hope, will harmonize fairly well with the president's desire for better protection for farm products and moderate readjustments of schedules related to manufactured products. It may be assumed that the president realizes the importance to the administration of the securing of a fair and reasonable tariff. The conference committee, working under the shadow of a possible veto, should be especially amenable to suggestions from the White House."

"The conference committee should be in a position to work out a better bill than that passed by the house or that framed by the senate," advises the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, with the added warning: "The country is fed up with delay. A serious charge has been made that politics, not the interests of American labor, agriculture and business, has been the cause of much of the delay." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, in a conclusion, states that "the probabilities seem to be that the president will approve the bill as it finally comes to him, on the ground that, as its making primarily devolves upon congress, he will accept the measure with the understanding that he does not approve of some features and that congress, not the president, must take the responsibility."

"Farm-product rates, finally to be agreed upon," in the opinion of the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER, "will doubtless be such as to bar much of the food that is now imported at the expense of our producers. This will aid materially in solving the farm problem, by bettering the American farmers' home market. If all industry is as well cared for, in the final draft signed by Mr. Hoover, a good job will have been done." THE LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT urges: "Let us wait until after the revised bill is passed and sent to Mr. Hoover for his signature before passing final judgment. The measure is bad enough as it is. It may be that it will be made even worse, or, possibly, a trifle better."

"Incomparably the worst ever enacted by a congress of the United States; and, bad as it now is, it will be worse when it comes from the conference committee," is the verdict of the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, which feels that "the sufferers from this legalized rapacity will be, first, the American consumers; second, the American farmers; third, the American president." THE COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL sees it as "a writhe in terms of human greed and loaded with political dynamite." THE CHATTANOOGA NEWS explains "the breakdown in the so-called coalition," with the statement that "senators could not resist voting to hand off tariff plums to their constituencies, and the coalition collapsed."

The ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS calls the measure one "that may be regarded as the most inequitable and oppressive tariff bill in the history of this country," though it concludes: "So resilient is American business that it can stand almost anything. It has lived and prospered before under unjust and selfish schedules, and it can do so again. What is certain, however, is that the measure is a disaster to the people of this country. Need of putting an end promptly to suspense as to tariff legislation is emphasized by the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES, the LEXINGTON LEADER, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE and the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL. THE CHARLESTON EVENING POST states that "business will be glad to have the bill out of the way, no matter what kind of a bill it is."

"Only occasionally or accidentally," declares the NEW YORK TIMES, "has any grace been shown to the mass of the consumers." So far as the senate is concerned they have been bled and bled; both by agricultural and industrial rates. They have no friends." Yet the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL concedes that "something it achieved," adding: "The senate has convicted the house of trying to put over an outrage. The coalition of progressive Republicans and Democrats has forced the Old Guard into standing up for reaction."

"All pretense of scientific revision, of which much was heard in the presidential campaign," asserts the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "has been discarded." The Young Republicans who, for a brief moment, marched bravely to President Hoover's support, were led peacefully back to their tents. The season's veterans of the Old Guard have had their way. Doubtless the president will also go their way, so the quicker the job the better.

"Difficulties which have been encountered in revision" are pointed out by the UTICA OBSERVER-DISPATCH with the advice to "remember that we are many, with differing occupations and interests, conflicting with each other's affairs and aspirations, each anxious and selfish for his own gain." The contention that the tariff should be kept out of politics is upheld by the INDIANAPOLIS STAR and the PASADENA STAR.

NEWS, while the PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM argues: "Whether economists like it or not, the tariff is a political question in the United States, and likely always to be. And until voters realize that the tariff affects them more than probably any other factor, they will vote upon the tariff only indirectly through the vote on senators and representatives, there will not be much further progress toward making the tariff's application universal."

"If the senate bill is to be preferred in respect of its rates," thinks the NEW YORK SUN, "it is by far the poorer in respect of administrative proposals. Three of these are sufficiently unsound and dangerous to warrant the house refusing to concur, and another executive veto in case the house does concur. These are the export-debenture plan, the scheme for administering flexibility and the so-called anti-monopoly provision." On the other hand the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS observes that "there are some who believe that with all its faults the bill would still be worth passage if only for the administrative features." The CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER predicts trouble over these features, and the DETROIT FREE PRESS concludes: "A senate provision taking the flexible tariff power out of the hands of the executive and vesting it in congress, and another creating the office of consumers' counsel, a sort of devil's advocate, who would represent the people at future canonizations of tariff rates, are among the administrative features that will have to be compromised."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A GORGEOUS EXPEDITION

The Yaqui Indian is a fighting Indian compared to which the Apache is a peaceful chap. Harry Carr tells about them in his wireless to the Los Angeles Times on March 26th:

"All day we have been driving through the Yaqui country—blue mysterious mountains—'Ramparts of Slaughter and Peril.'"

"A truckload of Mexican infantry heads the expedition of pathfinders for the Automobile Club of Southern California. Another truck load with infantry regulars and a delegation of friendly Yaquis rides in the middle; a third truck load of soldiers bringing up the rear."

"After the longest war ever fought by any people—more than 400 years—the Yaquis are living at peace in their seven towns, under their great Chief Pluma Blanco."

"A Yaqui, and the soldiers were building a new highway from Guaymas to Cajeme carried loaded rifles on their backs as they worked with picks and shovels."

"The Yaqui frontier looks as the Rhine frontier must have looked under Caesar—miles of mud forts with in sight of each other—sentries standing on the battlements scanning the horizon."

"Yaqui Indians plunged shoulder deep into the treacherous Yaqui River to ferry our cars across the whirling yellow stream to Ciudad, Oregon, where we had a barbecue. This is a great agricultural district—150,000 acres of rich land in cultivation, mostly by Americans and Germans. Then into the Mayo Indian country, and across another swirling river with Mayo Indians wading ahead to drag the boats and so on into Navajao."

"Near this old town General Obregon is buried. Here lives Roman Yucopio the Mayo Indian General, one of the most remarkable characters in Mexico. This is the home of the wonderful goat-hair Mayo Indian blankets."

"These places will be great tourist attractions on the projected Alaska to Buenos Ayres Highway."

Los Angeles calls it the "Los Angeles to Buenos Ayres Highway." Carr must have made a "ship" there.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—In a dramatic scene in the City hospital Thursday Lila Jimerson pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree before Judge F. Bret Thorn. District Attorney Guy B. Moore accepted the plea.

Ded Lila listened to the pleas of her father and Indian representatives in her white bed in the City hospital. Presently she weakly indicated that she was willing to confess to second degree murder in connection with the murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand. Judge Thorn was at once notified.

He arrived at the hospital shortly after noon and set up court in a room next to Red Lila's sick room. As soon as the District Attorney arrived the invalid was wheeled into the room. She faced her judge and, almost fainting from weakness, answered the routine questions which probably will mean her life imprisonment or at least a long term in jail.

Is Slowly Dying
Doctors say, however, that the tuberculosis sufferer cannot live more than a year and a half.

Judge Thorn imposed no sentence and did not indicate when he would ask the Jimerson woman to appear for sentencing.

Besides the woman's father, Dr. Walter Goodale of the City hospital was largely instrumental in bringing Red Lila to confess. He told her that he would not answer for her life if she subjected herself to the ordeal of another trial. Faced with this fatal alternative, Miss Jimerson called for the judge.

Thus the story ended which began when Henri Marchand gave his attentions to the Indian girl. Marchand is held in connection with the death of his wife as a material witness. His immediate release is expected.

Moore has yet to dispose of old Nancy Bowen, accused of actually committing the crime.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, for Thy unfailing goodness around us, above us, and by day and night. How we wonder, yet we praise Thee for Thy unvarying mercy. We bow before Thee with the feeling of reproach because we are so often forgetful of the abundance of Thy love. Overrule whatever has been imperfect and sinful in us. Send us forth as heralds of wisdom and knowledge, whose duty is to maintain the high standards of representative government. Before all men may we walk in the fear of God, honoring all Thy precepts. Bless us with urgency and zeal, with divine longings and aspirations that move the soul. Keep us in harmony with Thee, so that in our hearts there may be no bitterness, no hate, no envy, no jealousy and nothing that hurts, but everything that breathes a benevolent and wise disposition. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A MALICIOUS MAN—

Is always a stranger to the lasting joys of life. Always has woe as his traveling companion. Suffers from the poison of his own malice. Is any town's most dangerous citizen. Cannot fail to make a poor husband. May be a churchman but he is never a Christian. Is almost certain to defeat his own prayers.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

HEALTH TALKIES

Advocating that able physicians, under the auspices of medical societies, ought to appear in talking motion pictures on the subject of health. Bruce Bliven, journalist, makes a good suggestion. Most doctors do not advertise, but that policy ought not to deprive the people of the widest possible distribution of ideas on the subject of health. Since one of our most common characteristics is our desire to get something for nothing we are easy marks for health cults, fads and fancies that are not sound. We listen too much to those who do not know and do not have sufficient opportunity to hear those who do know. Fortunately, many newspapers now have daily health talks conducted by reputable men or women. That helps. Distributions by means of the talkies would also be greatly worth while.

IN A BIG WAY

There are some ins and outs and secrets of service which we the people get from large concerns that few of us ever think about. Did you know, for example, that to cover the cost of a dining car one passenger would have to be hauled 1,760,442 miles? Many corporations carry elaborate departments of service which are not profitable at all. As civilization grows older and people become more sophisticated and more critical, they demand more and more in the way of service—and get it.

GET INTO SOMETHING

The human mind to be healthy must have a certain amount of practice in concentration. If you are not vitally, enthusiastically, youthfully interested in something, get interested in something—even if it's only some kind of play. If you can become vitally concerned about some particular work—that is best of all. If you prefer to concentrate on a hobby, that is better than nothing. But the mind cannot be healthy without the exercise of concentration. An idle mind keeps the door constantly open to all sorts of destructive thoughts. And destructive thoughts help tear down both mind and body.

THANKING UNCLE SAM

If you feel cabby and really don't want to be nice to anybody you always have reason to thank Uncle Sam for a lot of service. This writer has just learned that the average trip of a two-cent stamp is 700 miles. That's cheap transportation, and a two-cent stamp can bring you almost anything you want, if you know that to put under it.

We might wonder what the victim of poison licker thinks about, but I guess most of us are willing to take somebody else's word for it.

DANDRUFF A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Electricity Used To Incubate Chicks

(International News Service)
LARAMIE, Wyo., April 4.—Farmers and poultry flock owners in this territory are incubating and brooding chicks and turkeys by electricity with marked success. If the supply of electricity is regular and dependable, it is a very satisfactory source of incubator heat, according to Oliver N. Summers, extension poultryman of the University of Wyoming. He said that natural gas also was a good source of heat for incubator operation. A recent discovery in connection with brooding chicks and turkeys is that dim lights burning in the brooder house promote growth and reduce losses, according to Summers. Lights reduce losses from piling up and prevent crowding, and encourage chicks to feed when hungry at night.

Medical Society Meets Thursday

Local Physicians Hear Dr. H. M. Hart Of New Wilmington Talk On Pneumonia

The Lawrence County medical society met in the society room at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening and Dr. H. M. Hart of New Wilmington presented the talk, subject being "Pneumonia." Dr. Hart said in spite of all the research that has been done on this disease and the treatment thereof it still remains an enigma, the mortality from pneumonia remaining the same as it has for years.

The society decided to aid in the examination of all children who will enter the public schools at the fall semester. This examination will take place some time in May and the children will be turned over to their family physician for a thorough examination as to defects and health discrepancies, which will be treated during the summer so as to have the child up to par by the time school starts in the fall. This work is being done through the efforts of the Federation of Women's clubs in conjunction with the medical society. The women's clubs are making the survey and the physicians will attend the technical part.

Arrangements were also made for the annual banquet which will be held in June, at which time Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood of the Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore will be the speaker.

Headless Murder Still Unsolved

Pittsburgh Officials Just About Abandon Hope For Identifying Victim

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 4.—Pittsburgh's brutal headless murder, in which the head of an as yet unidentified man was severed from his body and cut and stabbed mercilessly, today seemed destined to go on file as an unsolved mystery.

Scores of persons today viewed the mutilated body at the morgue and squads of county detectives vainly searched for clues as to his identity, only to announce they were completely baffled.

The last remaining hope left detectives was that the fingerprints of the murdered man sent to the National Bureau of Criminal Identification in Washington, the State Police department at Harrisburg, and to files of the army and navy might identify him.

Proverbs Of Bible Inspiring

You can search everywhere and you will find nothing more beautiful, nothing more inspiring and worth while for you or your children, than the eight verses on wisdom from the third chapter of Proverbs.

Read them aloud to yourself and to your children; memorize them, persuade your children to do so. Here they are:

13. "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding."

14. "For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof more than fine gold."

15. "She is more precious than rubies; and all the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her."

16. "Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour."

17. "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace. 18. "She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her; and happy is everyone that retaineth her."

19. "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens."

20. "By his knowledge, the depths are broken up, and the clouds drop down the dew."

Proverbs is full of wise and beautiful gems. Here are a few more of them:

"A wise son maketh a glad father; but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother."

"Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord; but they that deal truly are his delight."

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

"A merry heart does good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones."

"Even a fool, when he holdeth his peace, is counted wise; and he that shutteth his lips is esteemed a man of understanding."

"A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it."

"Let another man praise thee and not thine own mouth; a stranger and not thine own lips."

"A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor rather than silver and gold."

"Righteousness exalteth the nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."

"A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger."

"The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good."

"For as he thinketh in his heart so he is."

"Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be fine and whether it be right."

Even children under six enjoy hearing these Proverbs over and over; some like to memorize them.

Tomorrow: A Matter That Puzzles Me.

NEGRO MECHANIC STUDYING MUSIC IN NEW ENGLAND

(International News Service)
BOSTON, April 4.—A good automobile mechanic was lost to the world when Aubrey Pankey 25 year old colored Pittsburgh youth came to Boston University to study music.

Pankey could sing and did sing in a boy's choir at Pittsburgh but with the idea of dealing with the insides of automobiles clouding all thoughts that may have occurred to him as a musician as a profession he went to Hampton Institute in Virginia.

While at the Institute Dr. Arnold Dett, well-known composer, who was director of music for the school, recognized the quality in his voice. Later Roland Hayes, famous singer, visited the school, being welcomed with a reception at which Pankey sang. Hayes also became interested and sent a music critic from Boston to hear the young man sing.

As a result of the recognition of beauty in his voice by these two men Pankey studied music of Oberlin for a year. Hayes still continued his interest and went to Ohio to hear the student again. "This time," he urged Pankey to come to Boston and study.

"I prefer to sing songs that appeal to my listeners," Pankey declares. "I think I like emotional singing. I think I like emotional singing. I think I like emotional singing."

Emotional singing is really the only singing, I think. Negro spirituals are the "interpretation of emotions that the negro cannot express in words. They are fine examples of emotional singing, although I do not like to sing them all the time."

When the young Briton completes his work at B. U. in a year or two he plans to devote himself to the concert stage.

SAYS GUNMEN DIFFER LITTLE FROM OTHER FOLK
(International News Service)
AUSTIN, Texas, April 4.—Remove the veneer of custom from your neighbor, and you will get a pretty good idea of just what a gunman looks like, according to Dr. F. A. C. Perrin, professor of psychology at the University of Texas.

The reason is that men are pretty much alike, and that, to tell the truth, all of us are gunmen under the skin. The only thing that keeps more men from totting automatics or machine guns is that it is "not being done" in their particular circles, Dr. Perrin believes.

"Perhaps," Dr. Perrin said, "the gangster's completely impersonal attitude makes killing nothing more to him than an ordinary business transaction. Moral values themselves often are determined according to the individual's circle."

"I dare say a well-behaved gunman, growing up in an atmosphere of machine guns and racketeering methods, might live up to the gang's code without any peculiar psychological slant."

It is Dr. Perrin's expressed opinion that the tough gangster of whom you read in the papers is not different from your grocer, your policeman or your next door neighbor. Jumble a lot of them in with ordinary people, and you wouldn't recognize one from the other.

Your man-killer may look like your favorite pastor, or your favorite pastor may look like a two-gun gang leader.

Survey Of Sleep Habits Uncovers Many Peculiarities Of Scientists

HAMILTON, N. Y., April 4.—The sleep habit of 509 distinguished American men were made public at Colgate university today and upset some regular notions.

The critical age when it is unsafe to lose sleep is 35. Contrary to classical anecdotes, men of important affairs sleep about the full eight hours. It is youth that sleeps the least.

The survey was made by Dr. Donald A. Laird, director of the Colgate university psychological laboratory. The ages of the men ranged from 20 to 95.

No one reported more than 10 nor less than five hours habitual sleep. The average sleep for 25 years is seven hours, twenty-five minutes.

More than 70 per cent reported sufficient difficulty in going to sleep to cause them to develop "special techniques." Thought control was used by 33 per cent, reading by 25 per cent, relaxation by 18 per cent; drugs, not including alcohol, by 3 per cent, alcohol by two per cent.

"It is interesting," says Dr. Laird, "that approximately half those reporting use of alcohol to insure sleep were college professors of considerable distinction.

"A large number of unusual personal idiosyncrasies are reported in inducing sleep. One editor of a national magazine sticks his feet out from under the bed clothes.

Scientifically sound variations of the sheep counting idea appeared. One philanthropist reviews Blackstone's analysis of real estate law. A chain store executive thinks of many things rather than concentrating on one subject. A scientist thinks of star spaces in astronomy. A college professor eats onions."

Traffic Violators Must Stand Trial

(International News Service)
DETROIT, April 4.—Traffic law violators no longer can settle their offenses with a fee at the violation bureau after their case has been called in court Judges Sherman D. Calendar and John J. Maher of the traffic division of Recorder's Court so ruled.

Heretofore the violation bureau has accepted the regular fees plus $2 for settlement of traffic violations after the case had been called in Traffic Court.

Launch Drive To Beautify Cairo

(International News Service)
CAIRO, April 4.—An extensive campaign to beautify Cairo is now being planned. The government has named the sum of $200,000 to be spent on the embellishment of one of the principal avenues leading out of the city, along the Nile. Much will also be spent on the beautifying of city streets and additions to the public parks and squares. It is the ambition of Cairo authorities to make the capital of Egypt the most modern and beautiful city of the Orient.

Over in France they are going to build a high school in memory of the inventor of algebra. It is rumored that a lot of our local students would be glad to contribute a few bricks.

ELEPHANT EAR EFFECTS SEEN ON NEW SUMMER HATS

By ALICE LANGEIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 4.—If every dog has its day, as nearly everyone has agreed the elephant is certainly going to have his this summer from all reports from the French modistes who are using his ear flaps for their most picturesque models.

Naturally the brim forms the flaps over the ears, some of them enormous and very amusing to the eyes of the woman who has almost forgotten what a really brad brim looks like.

Gaby Mono makes the new hat even more amusing by making the ears a combination of different fabrics. In one, fine black bakon forms half the crown and half the brim, while the other comes of pink felt.

A slit is cut in front and the straw passes through the felt with the same effect given at the back.

Another picturesque elephant's ears hat comes in straw, one of the lace-leaf-weight weaves of the season in black and ivory with the fine satin ribbon, broad and shiny, drawn round the crown into a voluminous bow which lies flat on the crown and brim at the side.

Germaine Page uses a straw mixture of green, beige and white for another model with one "ear" a bit longer than the other, as any ordinary elephant might have, she explains. Round the crown is a trimming of leather which lends a quaint air of severity, cut in a feather design and drawn across the brim at one side.

One thing to remember, however, is that when choosing one of these amusing models with the flaps at the sides, it is wise to consider the effect closely from every angle for they can be anything but becoming at times.

The brim, by the way, counts for a great deal on hats this spring: even the little toque which is still to the fore for morning shows signs of growing sore of brim, even though it is usually bent back against the crown.

one of the new railroad methods discussed here at the first annual meeting of the American Railway Engineering Association. Such fireless trips are exceedingly short, of course, but they represent further two-fold effort of the railways to reduce, particularly in congested districts, smoke and gasses from waiting locomotives, and to increase economy of operation.

This practice, known as "direct steaming" has replaced, at a number of points, the former practice of maintaining by individual fires the steam pressure in locomotives standing in engine houses. Under the direct steaming system, no locomotive ever enters the engine house with a fire upon its grates, nor is the fire lighted until after the engine has left.

The Glory Of The Cross

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

"If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me."—Matthew 16:24.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

This lesson is clearly a "watershed" in Matthew's Life of Christ. The foot of this watershed is easily located at 4:17: "From that time began Jesus to preach, and to say, Repent for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." After two and a half years of this preaching of the Kingdom, Jesus holds an examination of his pupils to determine how much of it has registered in their hearts. His question is "who say ye that I am?" Simon Peter answered the question not only personally, but as spokesman for the twelve, saying: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

The Emergence of the Cross and the Church

How significantly our Lord regarded the question an answer is indicated by his commendation of Peter: "Blessed art thou Simon Bar Jonah, for flesh and blood have not revealed it unto thee, but my Father who is in Heaven. And I say unto thee that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it." Having brought his disciples up to this high point of appreciation of his deity, he announces a distinct turning point in his ministry, as the church and the cross emerge in his teaching and take an ever increasing prominence in all he says and does. Matthew notes the turning point in 16:21: "From that time began Jesus to show unto his disciples, that he must go unto Jerusalem and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes and be killed, and the third day be raised up." This is his first clear prophecy of his cross. Henceforth all that he says and does is influenced by the shadow of his cross.

The Offense of the Cross

The repulsiveness of the principle of the cross to the human mind is revealed by Peter as he began to rebuke him saying, "Be it far from thee, Lord: this shall never be unto thee." Our Lord had met this same temptation to eliminate the cross, in the wilderness at the hands of Satan, and recognized its source now, and replied accordingly, "Get thee behind me, Satan; thou art a stumbling block unto me; for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men." It is human to shrink from the cross and sacrifice; the spirit of the cross is not native with us. It is implanted of God. Christ came to teach the world that it is better to suffer and die for others than to live for one's self. It was an entirely new and revolutionary idea to a selfish world.

Sharing the Cross
Not only did Christ teach the necessity of the cross for himself, but for all who would follow him as his disciples. "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." Refusal to accept this unselfish principle of service and self-denial would result not in saving one's life but in losing it. To live for self is to live only to self, that is to smother life in selfishness. "For whosoever would save his life shall lose it and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it." Only those who spend themselves in serving others; the miser only exists, and it is a miserable existence at best.

The Cross in Glory
The transfiguration of Christ which followed immediately upon his first announcement of his cross was staged by him to reveal the cross in its true light and glory. There in the resplendent glory appeared Moses and Elijah talking with Christ, and Luke tells us, they "spoke of his decease which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem." Even this scene of glory was not to be selfishly enjoyed by the disciples abiding upon the Mount, but to prepare them the better to serve humanity's needs in the valley below.

(The International Uniform Lesson for April 6 is Matthew 16:13-17, the subject being, "The Law of the Cross," and the Golden Text, Matt. 16:24, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me.")

RUSSIA PLANS NEW SYSTEM FOR IMPORT BUYING

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, April 4.—Radical changes of great importance to firms selling goods to Soviet Russia are being made in the system of import buying. The government has not and does not intend to weaken its monopoly on foreign trade, but it is eliminating much of the red tape which incumbered purchases abroad.

When the new plan gets working, the government will be doing most of its buying from Moscow, instead of through trade missions, consular commercial attaches and trading societies abroad. In smaller countries like Norway trade missions are being abolished entirely. The staffs of trade missions even in big capitals of Europe are being cut by 50 or 75 per cent, the officials being recalled to Moscow.

Each Soviet manufacturing or development trust will be allotted a gold fund with which, within limits described by the government, it can import machinery or raw materials. The trusts will buy or call for bids direct from Moscow without being compelled to obtain import licenses from the commissariats of trade and finance for each purchase.

The new plan will cut down the government's purchasing costs in that it will spend less money for maintenance of large purchasing staffs abroad and will stimulate foreign firms to send sales representatives to Moscow. The sales agents will also be able to give valuable suggestions as to the type of machinery best suited to the country's needs.

SPRING BRINGS MORE AIR TRAVEL

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 4.—A marked increase in air travel with the coming of spring is indicated by the passenger traffic over the lines of American Airways, Inc., operating company of The Aviation Corporation, for the first ten days of March.

The number of passengers carried in this period indicates that the month of March will show an increase of approximately 25 per cent over the February traffic. Most of the increase has come on the company's Chicago-Dallas passenger line operated by the Universal and Southern divisions, and on the New York-Boston run of the Colonial division.

The increase in traffic since the reduction of fares late in January to a level comparative with that for rail travel has been large, the volume on the system for the first 30 days of operation at the new fares being 216 per cent greater than for the previous 30 days.

A factor in the increase, in addition to the low rates, was the inauguration of the fast through service with tri-motored Fokker planes between Cleveland and Dallas, and the establishment of a third daily schedule on the Boston-New York run.

The experience of the company with the Cleveland-Dallas line has shown it to be the most heavily long distance air passenger route in the country and that the middlewest and southwest are the most fertile for air passenger traffic.

NEW THINGS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Spends Monday Doing Heavy Washing—

Yet hands are caressing, satin-soft that night

New Method Saves Hands—Use Any Kind of Soap

It sounds too good to be true—that you can do your own washing and still keep lovely soft hands. Yet thousands of women are enjoying it today.

To spend Monday hours in the laundry—and that very evening to have caressing, soft, white hands—is a problem that has now been solved in an interesting new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, for washing in either tub or machine. But add 2 tablespoons of CLIMALENE to the water. This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly, so that far less soap is needed.

Then by bland cleansing elements IN ITSELF, Climalene acts to gently DISSOLVE any food stains, grease or dirt in things being washed. Thus they emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading.

Containing superlative SKIN WHITENING and SKIN SOFTENING ingredients—used by scores of beauty specialists—it leaves the hands soft and lovely beyond words.

Women are flocking to it. It costs only a dime at grocers. Try it. Just ask for Climalene.

Discovers That Oldest Living Horse Was Bred On Lawrence County Farm

Recently there appeared in The News an item concerning Old Frank, once a member of a span of horses, which drew former President William McKinley's coach at his inauguration in 1897 and later the executive's funeral coach following his assassination, now enjoying a life of ease at Fort Lyon, Colorado. He is credited with being the oldest living horse in America, being forty years of age.

The interesting part of the story of the horse comes from Jay Allsworth, 106 Smithfield street, this city, who calls attention to the fact that this famous horse was born and bred on a Lawrence County farm.

The horse was the property of his father, M. B. Allsworth, who had a farm in Wilmington township, a short distance southwest of New Wilmington.

The horse was named Frank and Jay Allsworth remembers that he was but a small boy and the horse was three years old, when in 1897, his father sold it to Samuel Conn, who had a perfect mate for Frank.

Mr. Conn in turn disposed of the horses to a woman in Sharon, who in turn either presented the horses to be used in hauling the coach of McKinley or sold them for that purpose. On this point Mr. Allsworth is not sure. Mr. Allsworth often wondered what had become of Old Frank and when the item appeared in The News, he wrote George Backman, agriculturist at Fort Lyons, Colorado, who has charge of Old Frank, giving facts, figures and data, which the Las Animas Leader of Las Animas, Colorado, in an item given out by Mr. Backman proved beyond any question of doubt that the famous horse at Fort Lyon is the one that formerly belonged to the father of Jay Allsworth of this city.

The Colorado paper states that Mr. Backman is planning to write Mr. Allsworth giving him some additional data concerning the old horse, whose mate was killed by lightning about ten years ago. Old Frank when sold by the father of Jay Allsworth was a beautiful driving horse.

Indians To Powwow In Cleveland May 17

Old And New Girls—They Both Talked!

(International News Service) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4.—Women haven't changed much in the last 10,000 years or so.

Take that from Dr. Walter B. Jones, state geologist, directing excavation work near Moundsville, Ala. With approximately 600 skeletons unearthed, Dr. Jones said in an address here, "all of the women had their mouths open."

"On the other hand, the mouths of the men were characteristically closed."

The skeletons referred to by Dr. Jones have been removed from ancient burial grounds near Moundsville. The graves are being inspected by the Alabama Museum of Natural History, of which the geologist is a director.

California Dredges Now In Use In Siberia

(International News Service) OROVILLE, Cal., April 4.—The California type dredge is being used extensively in Siberia, according to George S. Dyer, Oroville mining engineer, who has returned for a brief visit here after three years of mining in Siberia.

Dredges are operated there only several months a year due to the cold temperature, Dyer said. At times the temperature drops as low as 60 degrees below zero. He traveled 1400 miles by horse and sled to Irkutsk and made the trip in 22 days traveling day and night, sleeping in the sled.

Navy Cites Youth For Battling Fire

(International News Service) EL CENTRO, Cal., April 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith are basking in the reflected glory of a son, Joe La-fait Smith, recently cited for bravery by the United States Navy.

Joe Smith's heroic act was in battling a dangerous acetylene blaze on board the U. S. S. Taylor at the Philadelphia navy yard on February 15. Smith was discharged at the end of his enlistment on March 1 and employed as a civilian at the navy yard, "for life" if he wants it.

Mystery Plane Kills Chickens

(International News Service) SANTA ROSA, Cal., April 4.—Ted Peoples, deputy sheriff, is investigating reports that a low-flying airplane had been deliberately piloted over Rincon Valley chicken ranches to frighten poultry flocks. Back Seat Spying Wins Her Divorce

BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—Back-seat driving by the female sex sometimes results in divorce. Back-seat spying results in same thing.

Mrs. Fannie A. Myers, after 40 years of matrimony, decided her husband was going out in the family automobile alone too often. She decided to investigate.

According to court testimony, she hid herself under the lap robe in the back seat and went along with her husband, unbeknownst to him. She charged that he would pick up girls by appointment or by chance and flirt with them as he drove along.

She decided to reveal herself to him and when she did, he threatened to drive over an embankment and kill her, she charged. She received a divorce.

BAKE SALE TOMORROW—Y. L. B. CLASS, THIRD U. P. CHURCH

THE STROUSS-HIRSHBERG CO.

CORNER MILL AND NORTH STREETS

Our fashion floors are abloom with Easter styles

—Have you visited Strouss-Hirshberg's lately, to see what new things have come in? Exciting packages arrive every day from the great fashion centers, and unless you've been here very recently, you've undoubtedly missed a great deal. In that case, the best remedy is a trip to the store Saturday... to see such new groups as these:

chiffon dresses
$15.00

—Petal colors swirl into fascinating printed designs to make many of these frocks more lovely. Some, however, are content to be plain blue, green or beige... that is, as plain as capes, capelet sleeves, or lace godets and berthas will permit! Every one is feminine of line and treatment... and a number have matching chiffon or contrasting crepe jackets to increase their versatility.

Coats
—A distinguished fashion group
$25.00

—Certain of these very smart models take a new trend by adding oversleeves that come almost to the elbow, and give a cape effect.

—But there are real capes, too, among them... and collars that stand up because of a clever bow in back! The favored materials are covert, bengaline, silk crepes, wool crepes and tweeds. The colors are pleasantly varied.

(Second Floor)

Blouses

—Smartly sheer and new!

$1.95

—Printed voiles, Swiss-dotted muslins and polka-dotted dimities are fashioned into these blouses... to wear with new suits or sports skirts. With short or long sleeves and soft pleated frills, they are intriguingly youthful.

—Blouses of washable silk or eyelet embroidery, $2.95.

"Artcraft" hose

—have a delicate look that belies their strength

$1.50 pair

—Because these silk-to-the-top stockings are firm-threaded and even of weave, they can look very fragile, and still last amazingly. They are full-fashioned, with square heels and picot tops... and offer many spring shades for selection.

(Main Floor)

Little boys' suits

—Made of sturdy suitings $1.00

—Any boy between 2 and 6 who is buttoned into one of these suits is forthright dressed smartly and economically. These are well-tailored, in tan, blue, and in white with tan, blue, or green trunks.

—LITTLE BOYS' SUITS of fine broadcloth, in green, pink, blue, and peach. Finely tailored, in sizes 2 to 6. $1.50

(Second Floor)

Exquisite!—these new silken DANCE SETS —Of crepe de chine, radium, and fine

printed nylon, at $1.95

—Which will you choose... the pink, the pale green, the white or the peach? The tailored or lace-trimmed kinds? You're certain to like them all, and you'll be thrifty to select a number... for yourself and for Easter gifts.

(Second Floor)

HATS for Easter

Yours may be tailored, sportlike, or lace adorned.

$8.50

—Bakou, sheer braids, and lacy straws lent inspiration to their designers.

—Practically every one has a brim... though the brim may be draped in an unorthodox, yet thoroughly feminine fashion! Taffeta appliques make appearance on some that are well worth attention.

(Second Floor)

Hudnut toiletries —specially priced

$1.00 toilet water
$1.00 bath powder
$1.00 bath salts

79c

Any two for $1.50

—Three Flowers, Yanky Clover and other intriguing fragrances are available.

—A box of Hudnut's "Vial-ettes" (3 flacons of perfume) will be presented to every purchaser of toilet goods here Saturday.

Jewelry—feature!

—More than 150
new pieces

95c

—You'll revel in their sparkling loveliness!

—There's inspiration to match up Easter frocks in the very sight of these varied pieces. Necklaces are in the majority... and include such new effects as shower-clusters of seed beads, braided sports chokers, and combinations of crystal with colored stones.

(Main Floor)

"Shoulders must be accented," says Fashion—so we present

Roman scarfs

—which turn the trick very nicely, when worn with tailleurs and sports costumes. They appear in beige, white and blue silk crepe, with gay Roman-striped borders.

Long scarfs $2.95

Triangle
scarfs $1.95

(Main Floor)

Getting your daughter ready for Easter

—is our job—partly!

—You very rightly expect us to assemble smart things for her to choose (with perhaps a little aid from you!) And we have done so carefully... with keen delight, because of the lovely wearables we found! Now all you have to do (it will be a pleasure, we assure you!) is to arrange a mother-and-daughter shopping trip to Strouss-Hirshberg's, for the trying-on.

New coats—$12.95

—Here are tweeds with capes, and tweeds of swaggar cuff, with belts... not to mention basket weaves of varied design. Each coat is noteworthy for its fineness of tailoring, as well as for its youthfulness of styling. Sizes 7 to 14.

—Girls' tub frocks, of dimity, voile, and broadcloth, in colorfast prints... styled with capes, flaring skirts, tie-belts, etc. $1.95

—Girls' ensembles of pique and basket weave cottons, printed in conventionalized flower designs. From $4.95 down to $2.95

Twelve Belgian Miners Killed

(International News Service) MONS, Belgium, April 4.—Twelve men were killed and nine perhaps fatally hurt in a mine explosion today at Elouges.

If exercise promotes health, why is there so much tooth trouble in a land of gum chewers?

Man, Wife Die 12 Hours Apart

GREENVILLE, Pa., April 4.—Two elderly residents of Otter Creek township, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Huth, died within 12 hours of each other. They will be buried Saturday afternoon at a double funeral service to be held from the Jerusalem Reformed church at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Mary Huth died at 8 p. m. Wednesday, after about a week's illness of pneumonia. Death claimed Mr. Huth Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. His death was sudden and it is believed that the shock of his wife's passing added to that of a heart ailment, caused his demise.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Huth had been life-long residents of Otter Creek township. Mr. Huth was aged 76 and his wife aged 74.

Injured Youth Given $110,000

(International News Service) NEW YORK, April 4.—The biggest personal injuries verdict in recent years was given Thursday in Supreme Court when a jury awarded $110,000 to Albert Pieri, 19, of Union City, N.

J., and $15,000 more to the boy's father, Paul.

Albert, broke his neck December 8, 1923, when he tumbled through an air shaft from the sixth floor of the Equitable Trust Co., building.

His spinal chord was severed, and he will be paralyzed from the neck down as long as he lives, physicians testified.

That critic who says English is the hardest language to learn probably heard somebody speak of a Senator worth fifty million dollars.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Commercial Club of the senior high school held its regular meeting in the cafeteria of the school on Thursday morning. President Helen Brown presided.

It was decided by the club to hold an Easter Day on April 23.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Bessemer High School Notes

The Junior and Senior French classes were honored by a visit from Miss Braham, who related to the French students all about her trip to France. She described minutely her automobile trip from Cherbourg to Paris. She pictured the cottages of the peasants, their habits, dialects and unique costumes. Miss Braham gave an intimate description of Paris; the styles, shops, salons, customs, cafes, and the appearance of the people. After her talk she answered any questions that the students cared to ask.

The members of the Junior class have moved into the study hall which will be their reporting room until further arrangements are made. Originally, they shared the Senior room but the plan of having both classes together in one room was not thought to be a good policy.

The Senior class has finally chosen as its annual play "The Ghost Bird" a mystery comedy in four acts. It takes in practically the whole Senior class, as there are seventeen seniors and twelve characters are needed. The cast of characters:

Philip Graham—The man who rents the house.
Brad Buckhart—Chief of Detectives.
Catherine Belmont—A sweet girl.
Will Belmont—Her brother.
Mrs. Dorr—The housekeeper.
Celeste—Catherine's French maid.
Carl Thomas—A lawyer, in love with Catherine.
Tobias Touliver—An amateur detective.

Jenkins—A detective.
Andalusia Anderson—The maid of all work.
Belle Walker, Anna Bloom—sweet girls of 16.

The Seniors produced a play last year entitled "Sonny Jane" which proved very successful. It was the first Junior play ever to be produced.

The Senior class is planning to attend the Physical Education Exhibition at Slippery Rock on April 11. This is the first time that Seniors have ever been included in the invitation sent out to principals and health directors to attend the exhibition. The trip will be made in cars.

Baseball practice was started on Monday, March 31. The candidates for the team were kept busy indoors, pitching and catching, because of the weather. The first day of any outside practice was on Wednesday.

Track season was officially opened on Tuesday, April 1, by a call from Mr. Winters, the coach.

The girls in gym classes have not be taught to the Senior girls alone because there are only six Senior girls taking gym work. The latest game is "Mentalty," played like volleyball, except the head is used instead of the hands.

ACTIVITY.

The members of the Betsy Ross club are studying first aid for girl scouts. The members of the Science club gave current science topics from their weekly scientific magazine.

The Traveler's club imagined a visit to Kansas City to study its most famous theatre. They also viewed a map of Rock Island.

The Archery club has taken up several new projects but the members are still continuing on their fashioning of the bows and arrows they began recently.

The boys' athletic club took advantage of the early spring weather by playing baseball out of doors, during their club period.

The Orchestra club is busy on a new piece, the "Modern Miniature Masterpieces."

Census Workers Being Received With Courtesy

Find That Majority Of People Are Anxious To Cooperate,
Supervisor Brown
States

BLANKS PROVIDED FOR ABSENTEES

With but very few exceptions, local census enumerators are being met with most courteous treatment and a willingness of the person called upon to furnish the desired information. Census Supervisor Orville Brown stated this morning, and enumerators are averaging approximately 150 names a day.

Attention of local residents who are reticent about giving the information requested, is called to the fact that the Act of Congress providing for the Census imposes a severe penalty on those who will not furnish this information.

It is not the desire of Census Supervisor Brown to prosecute anyone in this manner, but if any occasion should arise, the services of the U. S. Marshal's office in Pittsburgh or of other Federal officers is at the disposal of the Census Supervisor.

Mr. Brown states that all enumerators are under instruction and are bound by oath to keep all information imparted to them strictly confidential, but if residents would only stop to consider the fact that an enumerator sees so many different people during the course of his duties, that it would be practically impossible for him to remember any specific information about any person, he would not need to even hesitate over giving answers to any questions asked.

Then again, all information is tabulated and results are given in the aggregate, rather than individually.

However, in the great majority of cases, the enumerators are meeting with splendid cooperation from the residents of the city, and the work is being greatly expedited as a result.

One big difficulty which confronts the enumerators is that fact that they find many persons absent from their home when they call which necessitates a return visit.

In the case of persons who are absent from the city or who expect to be absent during the enumeration, they are asked to secure an absentee blank from Supervisor Brown, which they will fill out and turn in to him.

A special form has been provided in the case of non-residents, who are residing in a community for only a short period of time and who desire to be counted as living in another city. These forms contain the same questions as the regular enumeration blank. After they have been filled out, the blank will be sent to the home district of the person.

With the experiences of a few days behind them, the enumerators are beginning to make rapid progress in their work and the task here is progressing very nicely, with the result that complete returns from some of the districts are expected to be available for publication in a few more days.

Grimes' Divorce Action Dismissed

Canton Judge Says Burleigh
Didn't Present Enough Evidence To Warrant

(International News Service)
CANTON, O., April 4.—The divorce trial of Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh Pirate pitching ace, was suddenly brought to a close here today when Judge Harvey F. Ake dismissed the case upon the request of Grimes' wife, Florence Ruth Grimes.

In dismissing the case, which had probably drawn more attention than any other divorce case in the annals of Stark county courts, Judge Ake said that the charges which Grimes brought against his wife did not warrant divorce action.

Mrs. Grimes asked the court to grant her husband a separation for two years, stating that she believed "Burleigh would settle down by that time, and all this foolish wrangling would be forgotten."

The case came to its sudden and unexpected end when Attorney James J. Amerman, Mrs. Grimes' counsel, made a motion that the case be dismissed on the grounds that there was not sufficient grounds on which to base a divorce action. Judge Ake upheld the motion without a moment's hesitation.

Immediately after officially dismissing the case, Judge Ake informally reprimanded the baseball player before hundreds of spectators who crowded the courtroom to hear the trial. Judge Ake accused Grimes of coming into the case with "unclean hands."

Judge Reserves Decision Against Sheriff Shaffer

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 4.—Decision in the case of Sheriff George W. Shaffer of Armstrong county who was called before Federal Judge R. M. Gibson to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for alleged negligence in confining federal prisoners, was reserved by Judge Gibson.

Shaffer testified that it was customary at the Armstrong county jail, Kittanning, Pa., to select trustworthy prisoners to run errands and work about the jail. Three such trustees were picked up on the streets of Kittanning March 5.

The prisoners, Joseph Reich, Paul Jefferson and John Franciello, said they took special privileges without permission of the sheriff. Reich admitted attending a motion picture theatre while on an errand for the jail on March 3. The other two said they had been assisting the court-house janitor and were going to a store to purchase tobacco when arrested.

Is Big Bill Through?

Friends Of Chicago's Colorful Mayor Say He Has Finished With Politics

By FRANK J. CIPRIANI

Central Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO, April 4.—Is "Big Bill" Thompson, Chicago's big belted mayor, through?

Has he had enough of the political racket; or does he intend to toss his wide rimmed sombrero into the ring again? Is he still a power politically? William Hale Thompson, intermittent municipal boss, doesn't answer. His friends do. "Big Bill" the most colorful, the most bombastic, the most successful front page mayor this town has ever had, is through! So say his friends. Ill health, according to those friends, is the reason.

"Absentee Mayor"
For 12 months Mayor Thompson has been a pitifully obscure figure in official life, so obscure, indeed, that hostile critics have referred to him caustically as the absentee mayor. Actually, Thompson is not an absentee mayor, despite irregular office hours; nor, so far as activity is concerned, is he the hustling, ripping, energetic Big Bill of old.

An observer who has followed the fortune of this egotistical man, declares on authority of those supposedly in the know, that Thompson will not be a candidate to succeed himself at the next mayoralty elections. In that sense, then, it is said, Big Bill is through.

So far as having had his share of the stormy political racket, Thompson likewise is about through, according to the same sources. And so far as his political power is concerned, it also appears that he is done. In support of this assertion, observers point out that few city hall men are on the ballot in the approaching elections. That is, few of them are up for the better officers.

The fall of Thompson, if such is true, is attributed to his physical condition. Although apparently a well man, Big Bill is not in good shape, his friends declare. He has cut out smoking, his only and favorite "vice," he has severed himself from the head-quarters crowd in the Hotel Sherman. He has given up all, except the close-est social contracts, and hardest yet, his friends say, he has given up politics.

"BIG BILL" THOMPSON

Obeys Doctor's Orders
A year ago Thompson placed himself under the care of physicians, and received strict orders as to what habits, customs and activities he must pursue. With hardly a murmur of protest, the "big boy" obeyed like a Spartan.

It is said, however, that Big Bill of old, the man who carried on a lone-handed revolution against docile King George a few years back, would be the same sombrero waving, laughing, fighting Thompson of other days, but for one thing.

That "thing" is the million dollar expert fees suit, for which judgment was obtained in the circuit court here, ordering Thompson and several others to "return to the city" money allegedly improperly paid to experts. This undoubtedly has been the severest blow to Thompson in all his years of service as mayor.

His Pride Injured
No one, not even his bitterest enemy, ever accused Big Bill of taking a dishonest dollar, although the same restraint was not shown in regard to members of Thompson's official family. This court judgment, however, has stabbed Thompson's pride, and weighed heavily upon him. The same friends who assert Big Bill is finished say so with one reservation. And that is, if Thompson is vindicated in the Illinois supreme court—if this tribunal reverses the lower court judgment against him—he will stage another comeback, physically and politically, that will rival his return to power not so long ago when, after four years of retirement, he defeated a sitting mayor.

Develop New Cling Peaches On Coast

(International News Service)
MARYSVILLE, April 4.—Seven new varieties of canning cling peaches have been developed for test plantings in the commercial fruit regions of California, according to word received here from the Canners' League.

Six of the varieties are hybrids developed from seedlings, while the seventh is the Puller Cling, an Australian peach adapted to California. These varieties are developed with the hope of producing fruit of smaller pits, with better canning qualities and earlier or later ripening to lengthen the canning season.

In addition, the Canners' League announced a new pear and two new nectarines.

Schools Place Ban On Physical Training

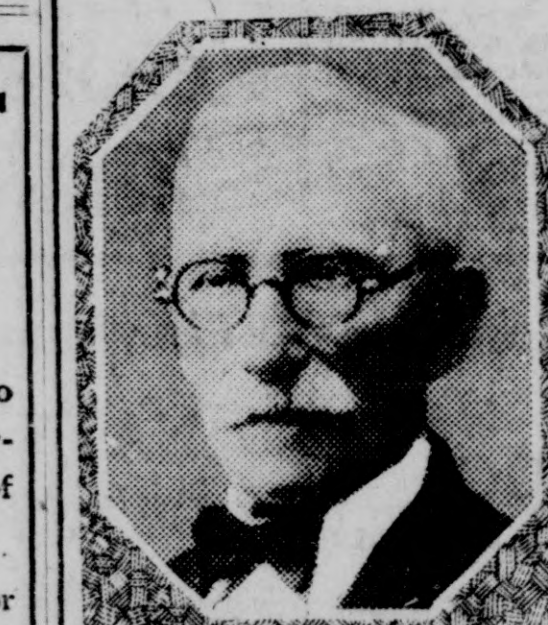

(International News Service)
DETROIT, April 4.—Edwin L. Miller, assistant superintendent of schools here, has ordered physical instructors at all intermediate and high schools to discontinue the practice of all exercises that might result in serious accidents. The order came as a result of three deaths in public school gymnasiums during a three weeks period.

POTTSVILLE MAN 74, ENTHUSES OVER KONJOLA

Suffered Many Years From Painful Ailments—Konjola Came To Rescue.

MR. CHARLES H. BECKER

"My age seemed to make no difference to this new medicine, Konjola," said Mr. Charles H. Becker, 200 North Center street, Pottsville. I suffered for several years with stomach and kidney trouble—then rheumatism attacked me. Every meal meant suffering from gas and belching. My kidneys pained me, especially at night and sleep was always difficult and often out of the question. My joints and legs became sore and stiff from rheumatism and I was utterly miserable.

"My friends induced me to try Konjola and this new medicine proved to be just what I wanted. My system was cleansed and invigorated, constipation passed and my stomach soon became normal again. Today I eat what I wish without the least discomfort. My rheumatism has been banished and my kidneys and bladder function perfectly. I can never be too enthusiastic regarding all this great medicine did for me."

Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial. Six to eight bottles is recommended as a fair test. Konjola is sold by Love & Megown, the druggists, 204 E. Washington St., this city.

Would-Be Kisser Released By Court

PONTIAC, Mich., April 4.—He who gets fresh occasionally gets slapped but he may also get the decision.

Lewis Boley learned this when he was charged with attempting to kiss Mrs. Ida Rosenbloom right in the middle of a dance hall.

The court asked Mrs. Rosenbloom how she knew Boley was trying to kiss her.

"I'm married," she replied, "and I know how my husband acts." "What happened then?" she was asked.

"I slapped him and he slapped me back and I slapped him again and he slapped me back."

The statutes were consulted but Boley's case was apparently without precedent here. He was released.

(International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 4.—"Swing your partners—Strains of an olden square dance—swelled from a mellow fiddle and a spry old lady nimbly joined the steps."

She was Mrs. Eliza McClellan, celebrating her 84th birthday. After several rounds of square dancing, which exhausted many of the younger guests, "Grandma" McClellan prouetted to the floor in an old time schottische.

Guards Auto So Well He Gets Self Fined

SEATTLE, Wash., April 4.—W. L. Rice guarded a friend's automobile, not wisely, but too well.

He had been asked by friends, he told Judge John B. Wright, to guard the wrecked automobile while they got medical attention. When garemen, sent by the sheriff, came to haul the car in, Rice stood them off with an automatic pistol for half an hour. Judge Wright commended his loyalty, but fined him $10 for illegal possession of firearms.

Many Pennsylvania Railroad Officials Arrive For Contests

Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, high up in executive positions of a score of more divisions, along with other region and system officials, are arriving in New Castle this afternoon aboard regular trains and special business cars to be present when the opening gong sounds at the Pennsylvania system's boxing and wrestling championship meet at Jolly Bowl tonight.

While a part of the official delegation had already reached the city at noon, the majority of superintendents and general superintendents were not expected until later this afternoon. Shortly after one o'clock a steady stream of officials, contestants and fans from scattered points had commenced to pour into the city.

Erie and Ashtabula officials here were prepared to welcome the visitors and to play host to them during their stay here. Special places have been reserved for officials at the bowl.

C. I. Leiper, general manager of the central region, of which the Erie and Ashtabula are a part, was among the list of officials expected, but a late message said that illness might prevent his coming. The general manager's region is one of four which competes for system honors at the bowl tonight, and he expressed his desire to be at the ringside to see his boys in action.

Division officials declared they were without information as to whether or not other general managers will come.

Attached to No. 415, regular Pittsburgh to Erie passenger train, this morning when it arrived at 10:25, were special coaches from Philadelphia and other points east. St. Louis was expected to send a large delegation as well as other western region cities, despite the great distance they have to come.

G. C. Hartel, assistant chairman of athletics for the entire system, was a member of the small party of officials who came this morning. Other special cars were to be carried by different regular trains, bringing both fans and contestants from different sections of the road.

W. M. Woolson, director of athletics for the central region, came early this morning to welcome the visiting delegations as they came in today. With him was L. C. Gleason, supervisor of E. and A. division athletics.

Officials who arrived this morning and afternoon, and others expected later in the day, are as follows: P. L. Grove, Cleveland, general superintendent of the Lake division; N. B.

Pitcairn, Pittsburgh, general superintendent of the Eastern Ohio division; R. H. Flynn, Pittsburgh, general superintendent of the West Penn division; G. W. Anderson, Pitcairn, general foreman of the Pitcairn car shops; F. L. Dobson, Pittsburgh, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division; T. C. Herbert, Pittsburgh, superintendent of the Panhandle division; Raymond Swenk, Cleveland, superintendent of the Cleveland division and predecessor to Superintendent Frushour here; P. W. Sullivan, superintendent of the Eastern division; G. M. Strimith, Pittsburgh, superintendent of the Conemaugh division; R. W. Wray, general superintendent of motive power for the central region, and other prominent regional men.

A throng of fans of record-breaking proportions is expected tonight, as many have indicated they will motor here from nearby towns, while others from a distance will come by train. Outside fight fans and wrestling enthusiasts of New Castle, having no connection with the Pennsylvania will attend. Officials expect more than 4,000 persons will be on hand.

While the matches are in progress trainmen will be preparing a return special of several coaches for the return. It will hurry the fans back to the cities from which they came just as soon as the last event is finished. Business cars of several of the officials will likewise be attached to this train.

Favors Military Drills For Students

(International News Service) BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 4.—Despite the allegation by the Indiana Daily Student, official publication of Indiana University, that military training tends to "make robots" out of students, James W. Fesler, chairman of the I. U. board of trustees, favors continuation of the compulsory military course.

"In my opinion, there is no danger of building any military system by a few hours' training a week," Fesler said. "It does the student good, building him up physically and reaching many who would not get the exercise otherwise."

Indians Desert Wigwams For Employment Agencies

By PIERRE JOHN HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 4.—The American Indian, once a redskin who fought with might and main against the white man and shackles of civilization, has re-appeared in a new role. He is now a worker looking for employment.

The extent to which the Indian laborer and skilled worker has deserted his reservation and migrated to the city is evidenced in part by the fact that at present more than 1,000 red men are employed in various jobs in Chicago alone.

With the times toward the great cities yearly increasing, the problem of their place and privileges in industry becomes even more acute. The eye of the board of Indian commissioners at Washington has therefore been turned with growing concern on the new industrial factor on the street scene of American life.

The recent annual meeting of the board, whose functionaries are advisory and supplement the administrative work of the Indian bureau, was attended as Chicago representative by Mrs. Flora Warren Seymour, who has been deeply interested in the Indian who chooses to compete with the white man in the metropolitan areas.

"The board passed a resolution," she said, "recommending favorable consideration of a plan for placement of the young Indian men and women in positions."

"It has been proposed that a center for this service be established in the midwest, preferably in Minneapolis or St. Paul. Minnesota has 12,000 Chippewas, exclusive of those on the Red Lake reservation, not to mention a number of Sioux who come into the state from the Dakotas."

Nip Well Planned Prison Outbreak

Gangsters From Outside World Were To Have Aided Prisoners

(International News Service) AUBURN, N. Y., April 4.—A wild scheme for another attempt at a jail delivery in Auburn prison—this time with machine gun assistance from the outside—was revealed today.

The plot which included the help of a large force of armed gangsters who would attack the prison guards was charged by Acting Warden Frank L. Heacock today in dismissing one guard, and transferring four "ifers."

Warden Heacock immediately began a probe of the reported plot which was said to link underworld characters and Auburn residents.

Morand Praises American Theater

(International News Service) PARIS, April 4.—The theatre of New York City comes in for fine praise in Paul Morand's latest book, entitled "New York."

"New York actors are excellent," says the Frenchman, who is well known on both sides of the water. "One may look in vain for a Duse or a Guitry, but the average is far superior to those of old Europe. Ours play in a lackadaisical manner; theirs are natural and have unbounding dynamic ability. The detectives really take on the air of detectives and the gentlemen are really gentlemen."

However, on the second look, Reddy found that the feminine figures being carried out were nothing more than wax dummies used in the French apparel shop to display dresses.

Letters Produced In Grimes Case In Court At Akron, O.

Mrs. Burleigh Grimes Contends Not All Letters Are "Fan Mail" For Husband

(International News Service) CANTON, O., April 4.—It may be "fan" mail to Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh Pirate pitching ace, but some of the letters don't read that way to his wife, it was indicated here today as the hearing of the baseball player's suit for divorce from his wife, Florence Ruth Grimes, was continued. Letters which were introduced by attorneys for Mrs. Grimes while the National League moundman was on the stand for cross examination yesterday indicated that at least two women, one living in Philadelphia and one in Boston, held rather a fervid interest in the athletic hero.

Only "Fan Mail" Grimes, however, classified the letters as "fan" mail. The letters are alleged by attorneys for Mrs. Grimes to have been written by Madeline Ross of Boston, and Emma Rummel of Philadelphia. One of them closed with the words "love and kisses." Another remarked of the athlete's neglect of her, and still another spoke feelingly of "something" in Grimes' nature "which has struck a responsive chord in me."

Grimes is suing his wife for divorce on the grounds of incompatibility and gross neglect of duty. He charges that she interfered with him in his baseball career. The couple was married August 10, 1913 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Humorous Incidents Mark Census Taking

Question "Who Is Head Of Household?" Draws Many Amusing Answers

Family Bible And Gas Bills Play Important Part In Securing Data

By PAUL GLYNN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, April 4.—To the earnest seeker after truth, or to the student of human nature, is unhesitatingly recommended a day in the company of the 1930 Diogenes, a census taker engaged in the compilation of Uncle Sam's 15th decennial census.

Humor—courage—patience—tragedy. All these and more are met with as the gigantic job of finding the answers to "who, what, when, where and why" and countless other questions goes on.

For instance, the first question, "who is the head of the house?" brings forth a flood of variegated answers, some unconsciously and some consciously humorous.

"My husband thinks he is," replied one young housewife with a smile, and another, not so young, declared with finality, "I am!"

And then there is the question relating to the ownership of property. One answer to the query, "Do you own your own home?" was:

"We do—that is, we and the people who hold the mortgage."

And at what price would the owner sell?

"Why, as much as we could get, of course."

Bigger interest and an almost total absence of resentment is noted as the enumerator questions each resident. The queries are put in an impersonal, efficient manner, thus adding to the rapidity of the compilation.

Unemployment proved to be about the biggest obstacle in the way of the census takers to date. Several persons were reluctant to tell of the length of time they had been jobless; some refused outright to answer. The case is referred to the United States marshal. Incidentally, the penalty for failure to answer is $100 or 60 days in jail. A fine of $500 or one year in jail—or both—may be imposed for making false statements to the enumerator. These penalties are prescribed by section 9 of the census act and apply to all persons over 18 years old.

Two totally unrelated articles play a large part in the enumeration—Bibles and gas bills!

A great many wives have recourse to family Bibles, some in foreign text, when the question of their husband's age comes up. In almost all cases the information wanted was noted in the thumbed pages of the worn testaments years ago—and then forgotten.

Last month's gas bills are aiding Uncle Sam in completing the census, especially in foreign colonies in the cities. Spelling of foreign names proved a problem until one resourceful enumerator called for the gas bill.

And there was the name, neatly typed and ready for copying.

Start Repairing Damage By Blast In Lower Broadway

Buffeting By Waves At Sea Caused Fittings On Pontoon To Be Sprung

(International News Service) HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 4.—Captain Lewis Yancey was busy today superintending necessary repairs to the pontoon fittings of the sturdy Stinson monoplane that brought him and his two companions here in a path-finding flight from New York Thursday morning.

Because of the heavy buffeting to which the plane was subjected during her night on the water after a landing 60 miles off Bermuda in the dark, the fittings attaching the pontoon struts to the fuselage were sprung.

It is probable that the fittings can be fabricated here and if so the plane will be ready to start homeward in a day or so. Captain Yancey said today they probably would steer a course on the return straight for the American coast, alighting probably at Norfolk for fuel.

Basil Sydney, the mummer, says he rolls his own cigarettes because he needs the exercise.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAN.

Children—the real Children, this time, has opened a new Nose Bag in the Grand Central district, with a staff of fifty-five red-haired biscuit shooters.
Old Man Salmon, personnel director of the ex-patience chain, found so much diversity of hue among the red heads that he was forced to confine his selection to an arbitrary list of ten shades—Titan, auburn, henna, carrot, brick, mahogany, strawberry, coffee, bronze and ginger.

This same sort of thing was resented to when the concern opened their Spanish Bean-Bazaar on Fifth Street. There, for the role of caviar tossers, were selected languorous, black-eyed beauties. In the Childs Fortieth Street English Tavern, buxom, full-bosom, red-cheeked, Nordic Nannies were given preference.
In a Childs Sardine Salon with a high, vaulted ceiling, Mister Salmon places tall, lovely, loose-lined Amazons, the plump, cuddly kind being reserved for the lowceilinged places.

Of course that's right for Old Doc Ziegfeld. He glorifies his girls and himself along with 'em. For, be it remembered, that with all his talk of pulchritude, Ziegfeld is the Perfect Producer.
The function of a restaurateur is to provide palatable nourishment at reasonable rates in surroundings conducive to appetite. But when a Bean Baron undertakes to divert the mind from the matter of beans and to focus it on beauty, we may be forgiven if we hae our doubts.

Misdirected attention is the stock in trade of the sleight-of-hand performer.
Childs earned fame and fortune with a background of white-tile and buckwheat griddles. It—too bad they haven't courage enough to stick to the original vision. There are enough fluffy eating shops in New York without adding any more.

When you step into a joint with a doorman, a canopy, a corps of hat-checkers and a flock of flunkies, don't forget you're paying for all that trimmings.
Our Motto: Less la-de-dah, and more of what we're payin' for.

LIFE IS LIKE THAT.

If you're thinking about earning a living in a sitting posture at the grand piano, with an eberhardfaber and a cigar in your left hand, bating out "song hits," give a moment's consideration to the sad case of George Bennett and Sam Carlton, two lads destined for big things.

A topical, peppy number, emanating from the snoot of a Broadway "star" in a big, Broadway show, is the song writer's dream. But in this day of talking pictures and radio, as Bernard Shaw said, "You never CAN tell."

George and Sam wrote "My Wife Is on a Diet." Eddie Cantor used it as his big specialty in Ziegfeld's "Whoopee." Every vaudevillian and radio ham sang it; but—nobody bought it.

Their joint royalties on it were exactly $47.50—and this is the laugh that came through the Victrola record that Cantor made and that Cantor fans stumbled over one another to buy.

ADD RACKETS.

Jack Buchanan, the Mazda Laner, was squatting in Sardi's. It's "the thing" these days to squat there. Gardi, the artist chap, spotted him and rushed over to his table to do a caricature. Then Hoffman, another crayon pusher, joined them.
What an entire apiece of crayon imports!

Comment at my table—Morehouse, the adjective slinger speaking:
"There's Jack Buchanan's big moment. Boy look at that pose! He's all set!"
"Yeah," said the Duchess, in a Margot Asquith alto, "gettin' all set to pay for three luncheons!"

Will Assure Posterity Of Famous Rock

(International News Service)
BOSTON, April 4.—Historic "Pulpit Rock" in West Roxbury, the meeting place of America's leading literary lights and philosophers, is assured of preservation for posterity.

Fears that it might be removed, were dispelled when Rev. J. H. Volk, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, announced that under the terms of a will the land on which it stands cannot be sold.

The rock, which stands on land known as Brook Farm, has attracted attention because this year is the centenary of the founding of Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Such famous personages as Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Amos Bronson Alcott, Margaret Fuller, Theodore Parker, William Ellery Channing, and Dr. George Ripley, Albert Brisbane, father of Arthur Brisbane, noted editor, once held stock in the farm.

Located about a quarter of a mile from the farm houses, the rock appealed to these literary leaders and philosophers as a symbolic point to hold outdoor religious services. From its summit, Dr. Emerson preached many a Sunday sermon.

The Brook farmers as they were called, are known in history for their efforts to live what they believed to be an ideal existence. Each was supposed to do manual work several hours a day, the rest of the time being spent in study and discussion. This cooperative venture lasted from 1841 to 1847 when a disastrous fire ended the experiment.

An orphanage is now situated on the property.

Woman Given Job As Mexican Police

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, April 4.—The policewoman has made her appearance in the national capital of Mexico. Consequently, the chap who has made it a point to go through life "muy hombre"—"very manly"—is ready to go to the Arctic.

This seeing a "mere woman" endowed with powers that may land one in jail is rather more than a real Mexican caballero can stand.

The woman was put on the police force for the purpose of giving women and children the protection they have hitherto failed to get. Much of the lower strata of this city's population, referred to in Mexican prints as "trigloiytes," makes the streets unsafe for women and children after dusk.

The policewoman will see what can be done about it. If the police whistle will not bring a male "cop" to her assistance in time she will shoot to kill, because taking a chance in the streets of Mexico City at night would be an abuse of common sense.

Gypsies Attend Coronation Of "King"

(International News Service)
WARSAW, April 4.—The coronation of Europe's latest monarch, "King Michael II" took place at Pias-tow, near Warsaw, with all due pomp and splendor.

Delegations of gypsies came from near and far in their picturesque costumes to swear allegiance to Michael Kwiet, their newly-elected ruler. Even State President, Moscicki and Marshal Pilsudski had sent representatives and many visitors had come from Warsaw to watch the unique spectacle.

King Michael II sat on a throne a golden crown on his head, his "Queen," Sedra Lubica, at his side. He held a speech assuring the Polish Republic of the loyalty of his gypsy subjects.

A sumptuous dinner followed, accompanied by dance to the tune of a gypsy orchestra of fifty musicians.

Wife, 66, Asks Court To Raise $3 Allowance

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 4.—When Mrs. James O'Reilly, 66, asked her 69-year-old husband for money, he replied:

"You say I don't support you. You have $3 a week. That is $156 a year, and that's too much money for any woman to have."

Mrs. O'Reilly retaliated by starting action for separate support and won her suit, court ordering the elderly husband to boost her allowance to $5 weekly.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician. All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother does not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained at any drugstore, and the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature that appears on every wrapper.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

The Colorado Springs bachelor who started all this discussion about the selfishness of bachelors by being "tinkled pink" about something in this column, now asks why the bachelor girls don't say something. He wants to hear what they think about marriage. Do they like staying single and why?

He says he supposes he would be better off, "with a nice wife to cry on his shoulders, so he would buy her a hat trimmed with horse feathers." You can't purge him of his contempt for matrimony. Not in a thousand years. Unless some chit of a girl comes along and tells him how sweet he is, how different from other men, and how much better than all the other rolled into one. Would his ears stick up at such sounds? Would they? Boy! And would he begin by buying new ties, and asking her to go bye-bye?

I'd like to see it happen. A man from Ridgewood, N. Y., says it pleases him to see the women wearing long skirts, but he believes "that a lady can be a LADY whether she wears long skirts, short ones, or just a slither undergarment." He says: "It's not so much what she wears as how she acts in the presence of men."

Can you see a lady trying to act nonchalant in the presence of men while wearing "just a slither undergarment"? But of course he's one of these men with a broad view. He tells me the trouble with women today is that they did not take the fullest advantage of the religious education offered them "yester-year."

But a girl in "only a slither undergarment" is nothing to take thoughts away from the religious training of yester-year.

"M. A. of New York, too, wants to know 'What kind of folks are conventional folks?' She says she received an invitation to a party, informing her that they would 'make Whoopee' in a conventional way. She wants to know just what it means. I'd like to know too. The conventions where there are any, are somewhat elastic. Whoopee in a conventional way would puzzle any guest. I'd have to go to such a party to be able to tell her. She might go and then tell me.

I can do my housework and not get a bit tired. My mother and my sister, also several of my women friends are taking your medicine now, because I believe that this medicine will help any woman that will take it regularly."—Mrs. Lydia Orloski.

"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly do my housework. I was so nervous and weak from Change of Life that I had to lie down very often. I heard about the Vegetable Compound through a pamphlet which was left at my door. I am doing all the housework for a family of four and it keeps me on my feet. I have taken six bottles and I have gained strength and flesh."—Minnie E. Hicks.

(International News Service) BOSTON, April 4.—Representatives of 13 eastern college publications will gather at Boston University April 24, 25 and 26 at the Tenth Annual Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention, including students attached to the Boston University News, Harold T. Burns, editor of B. U.'s papers, is president of the association.

The convention is called yearly to provide an opportunity for the editorial and business departments of college newspapers to discuss their common problems and means of solving them. Each year it is planned to take up the specific weaknesses of members papers and in this way raise the standards of the publications.

Entertainment of the delegates will be shared by members of Boston University News staff and the Benjamin Edes Society, an organization of journalism students at the college of business administration.

Boston University interest is centering about the convention contest which last year awarded the B. U. News second place among the college newspapers of the East. The Penn State Collegian won first place.

The organization was started ten years ago and it is expected that this year will see the addition of several members to the present total of 13.

The committee in charge of convention activities from the Boston end this year comprises: Harold T. Burns, Belmont, Mass., Paul M. Kennedy, Fitchburg, Mass., Catherine M. Coyne, Portland, Me., Sigmund A. Lavine, Dorchester, Mass., and Carl M. Mydans, Medford, Mass.

Soviet Capital Damaged By Fire

(International News Service) MOSCOW, April 4.—Fire of undetermined origin, destroyed the floors and interior woodwork and scaffolding of one wing of the uncompleted 11-story capital of the Soviet Union. The loss may run into several hundred thousand rubles if it is found that the brick walls will have to be rebuilt.

The building, covering an entire block, will house all government bureaus connected with the Central executive committee, and will have living quarters for several hundred government officials. The fire raged for six hours. Two companies of Red infantry and one cavalry brigade were called out to assist the fire department in 20-below-zero weather. It is presumed that the fire started from an overheated salamander inside of the building.

Says Friendship Replaces Warships

(International News Service) LONDON, April 4.—A pact of friendship with America has proved greater security to Canada along her southern frontier than all the armed vessels she could get on the Great Lakes.

This was emphasized to the English by Colonel Ralston, the Canadian Minister of National Defense and Canada's representative at the naval conference, in an after-dinner speech at the Savoy hotel.

"Canada," he said, "has made agreements take the place of battleships and we have had no ill effects."

SEEKS TO LEARN LEGAL STATUS OF SEAPLANES

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C. April 4.—The status of a seaplane in maritime activities may be established in admiralty court here when the Canadian courts will be asked for the first time whether a seaplane is a ship.

This question was brought about by Bruce Boyd, who has entered a suit in admiralty in behalf of Joseph H. Burton, against the Alaska-Washington Airways Ltd., for salvaging one of their Fairchild monoplanes.

The craft struck an iron buoy while taxiing from the mouth of False Creek preparatory to a take-off for Victoria. A pontoon was ripped off the craft and she began to sink with the pilot, Captain G. H. McKenzie and two passengers aboard.

Burton sped to the rescue in his small gasboat, slipped a tow line aboard and towed her to safety. He claims he is entitled to salvage and seeks $4,000, estimating the plane's value at $15,000.

Russia Foreign Trade Totals $10,600,000

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, April 4.—The successful drive of the soviet government for export markets shows in the foreign trade reports for the first four months of the fiscal year with an active balance of 21,200,000 rubles (nominally $10,600,000). The first third of the year ended January 31. Exports, official reports stated, were 333,000,000 rubles and imports 312,000,000 for the period, which are increases of 24 per cent and 22 per cent respectively over the same period last year.

It is significant that imports of cotton, affecting principally the United States, were only 17,000,000 rubles as against 22,000,000 for the same period last year. Imports of wool declined by 30 per cent. About 90 per cent of the imports were productive imports like machinery and tractors, the imports of which were valued at 19,000,000 rubles.

Cairo Prison Is Overcrowded

(International News Service)

CAIRO, April 4.—The Cairo central prison is at present so overcrowded that a private building nearby has been taken over by the authorities and is being used temporarily to house the condemned prisoners. The recent concentrated drive on dope traffic is partly responsible for the unprecedented number of prisoners. Aside from the round-up of addicts which are made every few nights an increased vigilance on the part of the police and special campaigns, are resulting in the arrests of tremendous numbers of drug vendors.

Can the Board raise the price of wheat by holding the surplus? Boy, look up the record of England's rubber and Brazil's coffee.

Gas On Stomach Is Dangerous

TELLS HOW TO STOP IT

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic gastritis and dangerous ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart. It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from any reliable drug store some Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little in water after each meal. Bisurated Magnesia will stop the worst gas attack quickly and without embarrassment. Taken right after eating, it prevents formation of gas and acids so there is no sourness, bloating or pain. Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisurated Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist. Try it today.

DENVER JUDGE URGES EASIER DIVORCE LAWS

DENVER, April 4.—"Strict laws on divorce tend to immorality," Judge Charles C. Sackmann of Denver declared before an assembly at the Y. M. C. A. here. "No law can make two persons live together. If denied divorce they will follow natural tendencies, anyway, a situation which soon leads them into immorality."

"I have often felt," Judge Sackmann said, "that after a couple have tried and failed and given serious consideration to their difficulties that it is best that they be allowed a divorce."

"Almost anything under the sun may be legal justification for divorce in Colorado, which in my opinion has the most liberal divorce laws, and it is a good thing."

"If a man tells his wife he doesn't love her, doesn't like her cooking or thinks she has big feet, that may be grounds for divorce, because, as I have said, no law can keep two persons together."

Judge Sackmann believes hysterical reforms against divorce are of little value. "There was a movement against divorces in Denver recently. The district bench, in response to some outside suggestion, attempted to save homes for the kiddies Christmas by refusing to grant divorces during the yuletide. As soon as the holiday season was over the people came right in and got their divorces anyway."

Four classes of persons come to his court seeking divorces, Judge Sackmann said. Of these the highest and lowest types are the worst. Persons of wealth, with nothing to occupy their time, and the dance hall patrons of the downtown area seem to show the least conception of the marriage vow, he declared. The two middle classes, that is, the small merchant and the high salaried workmen and junior executives are more serious about matrimony than any others, Judge Sackmann said.

"A wife who has to work all day and hurry home to make it bright for husband after a hard day at the pool hall just can't make a go of it," he declared. "Marriage is a partnership, a contract, which neither party can break without steering the ship on the rocks."

Experience on the bench has shown him that nine out of 10 of the mid-night weddings performed in suburbs and small towns near the city are failures, Judge Sackmann said.

Worth $300,000, Is Held As Dope Seller

(International News Service) CAIRO, April 4.—A waiter with the wealth of $300,000 has just been arrested here as a dope trafficker.

This waiter, Ahmed Gamra, has been working in a cafe in Cairo for 12 years. During this time he has built up a trade in hachiche and heroin which enabled him to buy a mansion in one of the smart suburbs in the city and to open a bank account.

He continued his work as waiter under his own name and used another for private life.

ATHENS, Ga., April 4.—University of Georgia co-eds may now have longer dates—and longer hours for studying, according to a set of new rules recently drawn.

"Dates" may now stay until 11 o'clock, whereas the time limit formerly was 10:30 o'clock.

Another Doctor Endorses Flaxolyn

DR. CHARLES LESLIE LEWIS

"I Tried Flaxolyn Myself. Its Power to Do the Body Good Really Surprised Me!"

Following is a letter from Dr. Lewis of Pittsburgh to Dr. Harris H. Luntz (M. D., D. O.), the discoverer of Flaxolyn:

"Dear Dr. Luntz: When your Flaxolyn was first brought to my attention I must confess that I was mighty skeptical about the claims which were made for it by many of my friends who said they had taken it. One man was so enthusiastic about Flaxolyn and told me how wonderfully it had helped him, that, somehow or another, he convinced me that it might have merit.

"Being rather run down myself at the time, and recognizing the symptoms of auto-intoxication, I decided to try Flaxolyn myself. I felt that if it didn't do me any good, at least it couldn't do me any harm.

"I want to tell you now that I am well satisfied that Flaxolyn has genuine merit—it acts upon the stomach, liver and the intestinal tract in a natural and efficient way.

"As a rule I do not endorse any internal preparation, but I am so well satisfied that Flaxolyn can do an immense amount of good for the people here, that I am perfectly willing to allow my name and picture to be used in an open endorsement of Flaxolyn.

"I am not sufficiently versed in pharmaceutical circles to know what it is in Flaxolyn that makes it superior to any other preparation it has been my fortune to come in contact with, but I do know that I can sincerely recommend it as a remarkable aid to health."

You Need Not Be Sick to Receive Flaxolyn's Great Benefits

Flaxolyn is not only for sick people. The man or woman who feels 100 per cent fit at all times is rare. If you ARE sick, or generally ailing or rundown and tired out, you certainly should try Flaxolyn. In fact, it is a duty to yourself and to your family that you give this proven, meritorious prescription a fair trial.

If, however, you are not really sick, but feel that you could use greater strength and greater energy; if your friends tell you that you are not looking your best and you want that wonderful, natural good color that comes from a healthier condition, it would be a mighty good thing for you to get yourself a large, economical bottle of Flaxolyn and try it out for a while. See how it helps to bring a new sense of physical fitness. It drives out those intestinal toxic poisons which are so common even with people who think they are healthy. It activates the bile flow from the liver and stimulates the digestive fluids, so that you get more benefit from the food you eat.

GUARANTEE

Flaxolyn must bring a satisfactory health improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful, or return the partly-used bottle to the drug store and get your money back.

Don't delay taking Flaxolyn. This pleasant-tasting, health product cannot hurt you and it may do you a tremendous amount of good. There are any number of folks right here who tell how the new Flaxolyn has put new pep in their step, new keenness in their appetite, new brightness in their faces, and new zest in their lives. Druggists can now supply you with new Herbal Flaxolyn.

Plan Monument For City Square

Memorial To Be Unveiled By Daughters During G. A. R. Encampment Here

Pennsylvania's Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will present a memorial to the City of New Castle during the annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic when it occurs here next June. It was learned today. The monument will stand as a memorial to their fathers.

Mrs. Margaret Schwing, of Johnstown, president of the state organization has already placed the contract for the miniature monument, and actual work on it will be commenced shortly. It will be five or six feet in height.

While the exact spot where it will be placed on the public square has not been definitely determined, it will nevertheless occupy a part of that portion of the diamond where the soldiers' monument now stands. The city council will decide just where it will be placed.

It is understood that arrangements are now under way for a program that will mark the occasion when the monument of the Daughters is unveiled.

WOULD PLACE MENTAL CLINICS IN HIGH SCHOOLS

(International News Service) BOSTON, April 4.—Institution of psychiatric clinics in high schools the commonwealth of Massachusetts, with paid social workers and psychiatrists in attendance is urged upon the club women of the Bay state, by Dr. Anna M. Skinner, psychiatrist at the Judge Baker Foundation.

Such a measure would save not only the immediate lives of the young, but assure healthy and happy futures for them when they become men and women, Dr. Skinner declared.

Adolescence is the most critical time in young person's lives, the psychiatrist said, explaining that it is the time when body secretions pour into the system in peculiar and unanticipated ways.

Upholding the frankness of modern youth over what she termed superficial innocence of other days, Dr. Skinner decried the belief that young persons of today are heading for destruction.

"Our youth won't land in the mire and stay there," the scientist said. "Youth will come out on top. Of course, it is an anxious time and mothers worry about their ducklings, but let youth experiment. Don't be too severe. Try to understand youth."

"There is a wealth of idealism, ambition, altruism in adolescent youth, and that is the time for parents to utilize the assets of their offspring."

The next scheduled stop of "The Eaglet" is Columbus, Ohio. Captain Hawks would not estimate his time of arrival in the Ohio city as he said he preferred to be in the air before making any predictions as to his average speed.

Slippery Rock To Have Chapter Of Fraternity

Charter Presented Pennsylvania Theta Chapter Of Pi Gamma Mu Recently

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 4.—The Pennsylvania Theta chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, the National Social Science Honorary Society, was formally presented its charter by Dr. Darrol B. Harmon of New York University, the national secretary-treasurer of the society, in a fitting ceremony at the State Teachers College. At the regular college chapel exercise March 31, Dr. Harmon also conferred upon Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, President of the State Teachers College, a jeweled key of the society in recognition of Dr. Eisenberg's contribution to education advancement in the state of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Harmon, in presenting the charter, congratulated the local group upon its distinction as the centenary chapter of the society, the one-hundredth chapter to be organized. The Pennsylvania Theta chapter is also the first organization of its kind among the State Teachers Colleges of the state. The charter was received by Professor T. S. J. Heim, the local organizer, who in turn presented it to Mr. Leo McCue, the chapter president.

The activities of the Theta chapter at Slippery Rock are directed by the following officers: Leo McCue, president; Robert McClymonds, vice-president; Professor Howard L. Headland, secretary-treasurer. Professor Harry E. Menser, membership officer, and Miss Betty Sullivan, sergeant-at-arms. In addition to the officers, the following people are members of the Slippery Rock chapter: undergraduates: Shirley Holbrook, Lois Ketterer, Leonard Horseman; alumni: Samuel Roth, Frieda Pink, Mary M. Turner, Mary Jane Glenn, Alice Dean, Roy McClymonds, Anna Steubgen, Ross Gill, Hazel Moore; faculty: Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, Professors T. S. J. Heim, A. B. Dennison, Mrs. Alice Hansen, Miss Alma G. Rice.

The first suggestion of the national honor society which led eventually to the establishment of Pi Gamma Mu was made by Professor Leroy Allen, then head of the department of economics in Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, in April, 1924. Since that time the idea of Pi Gamma Mu has spread until over one hundred chapters are to be found in every state in the Union and one in Hawaii, and they represent a total of more than 11,000 members.

The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu is the inculcation of the ideas of scholarship, scientific attitude and method, and social service in the study of all social problems. Pi Gamma Mu is not organized to oppose or advocate any particular social movement. It rather aims to instill in the mind of the individual a scientific attitude toward all social questions. Its motto is, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

FILM MUSICIANS MAKE MORE MONEY THAN BIG STARS

By FREDERIC A. CHASE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—Once, musicians and poets lived in garrets. Now they live in the biggest houses of Hollywood. And if you think that isn't very big, come out some day and try counting the rooms. And bring your adding machine.

While the salaries of screen artists are seldom exposed to the envious eyes of the multitude, it is pretty well established that, on the whole, the musicians working in the films make more than actors. Erno Rapee, who formerly conducted the Roxy Symphony orchestra in New York, just signed a three-year contract as a musical supervisor for one of the studios, at a salary way over $100,000 a year. Rapee is now regarded as one of the richest musicians in history.

Paul Whiteman's salary is a secret, but it is hard to believe that his salary is smaller than Rapee's. Sigmund Romberg, who has been working with Oscar Hammerstein in producing four musical plays, laid in Vienna, and featuring Alexander Gray, baritone, will receive $2,000 for half an hour's work over a national broadcasting station next month. He is the composer of "Student Prince," "Blossom Time" and "Desert Song."

Rudolph Friml is valuable enough to his studio to warrant an enormous life insurance policy. His hands are insured in one policy for $500,000. Mary Lewis' time while she is singing in pictures is worth $4,000 a minute, according to the announcement of her talking film contract. Singers working in the studios are paid $10 an hour, with a guarantee of three hours daily. The average is $50 a day or better.

The poets and playwrights suffer little by comparison with their ancient companions in misery. William Benet is hard at work preparing the script for D. W. Griffith's forthcoming talkie, "Abraham Lincoln," and it is understood that the poet's time is not going unrewarded. Many playwrights have been hired by the studios to help in the preparation of stories for screen production, and none of them has been seen flying the flag of financial distress.

So, quit talking about the starving poets and musicians.

KANSAS CITY TROLLEY WORKER HAS HEAVY MAIL

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, April 4.—Kansas City possesses a street car motorman who receives almost as much fan mail as a movie star and knows most of his patrons by name.

He is A. J. Andrews, a good natured man with a habit of wise-cracking at the expense of his passengers without offending them. He was born in France of Turkish parents and took up his job of a street car motorman to earn sufficient money to get married.

Officials of the street railway company say the size of Andrews' daily mail requires the almost undivided attention of one clerk. His knack of wise cracking, officials of the company found, was considered sufficient compensation by many of his patrons during the recent zero weather to pass up other trams to wait for "Andy's" car.

"Get to the rear of the car, ladies. I know I'm not good looking," is a stock "crack" of Andy's to passengers who insist upon standing in the front vestibule of his car. Usually this results in a series of good-natured verbal exchanges during the remainder of the trip.

When he first became a motorman, Andrews rented a room next door to the car barns. He asked that he be notified every time there was any extra work for which he could receive "overtime" pay. Within the year he achieved his purpose by saving sufficient money to marry the girl of his choice.

(International News Service)
VIENNA, April 4.—Longer hair for women, and beards and moustaches for men, is the judgment pronounced by Viennese barbers at a recent meeting of the outstanding representatives of that honorable profession in this city.

Women ought to look womanly and men manly, is the new battle cry decided upon by the barbers of Vienna. At a secret session of the meeting the fact was discussed that women, getting used to the treatment of bobbed hair, learn more and more how to do without a hair-dresser, while clean shaved men became absolutely unfaithful to the shaving artists.

Some women have already succumbed to the new fashion, and are paying huge sums to their hair-dressers so their hair will grow faster.

A considerable part of the stronger sex is also obeying the rule of the barbers, as is shown by the budding sprouts overshadowing the faces of the younger set. Beards are growing in spite of protests by ticklish girls, not to mention the laundry owners, who expressed fears that beards might be misused as covers for dirty shirts or collars.

Taxi Service By Airplane Started

(International News Service)
BERLIN April 4.—An air taxi service has been established in Germany by the Lufthansa.

A fleet of single-motored planes has been placed at the disposal of the public at the cost of 50 cents a mile. If five travel at the same time, the cost is only 10 cents a mile. The taxi-planes hold six passengers.

Selected pilots have been chosen as the first air taxi chauffeurs, and arrangements for luncheon and tea service can be made for long trips.

The Lufthansa has increased its flying mileage this spring. A total stretch of 5,713 miles is being flown daily compared to 4,376 miles last year.

Clemenceau's Aide May Become "Cop"

(International News Service)
PARIS April 4.—After having been Georges Clemenceau's right hand man, at least as far as home life went, Albert, private valet to "the Tiger," is about to become one of Chief of Police Chiappe's many "right hand men."

But Albert has his doubts about what "the Tiger" would think of his new occupation. At the Prefecture of Police, he said:

"M. Chiappe himself sent for me to ask me, now that I have no job, if I would like to be a policeman. I'm going to accept his offer. If my old chief ever saw me as a policeman, what wouldn't he say."

Americans Have Wrong Impression Of China

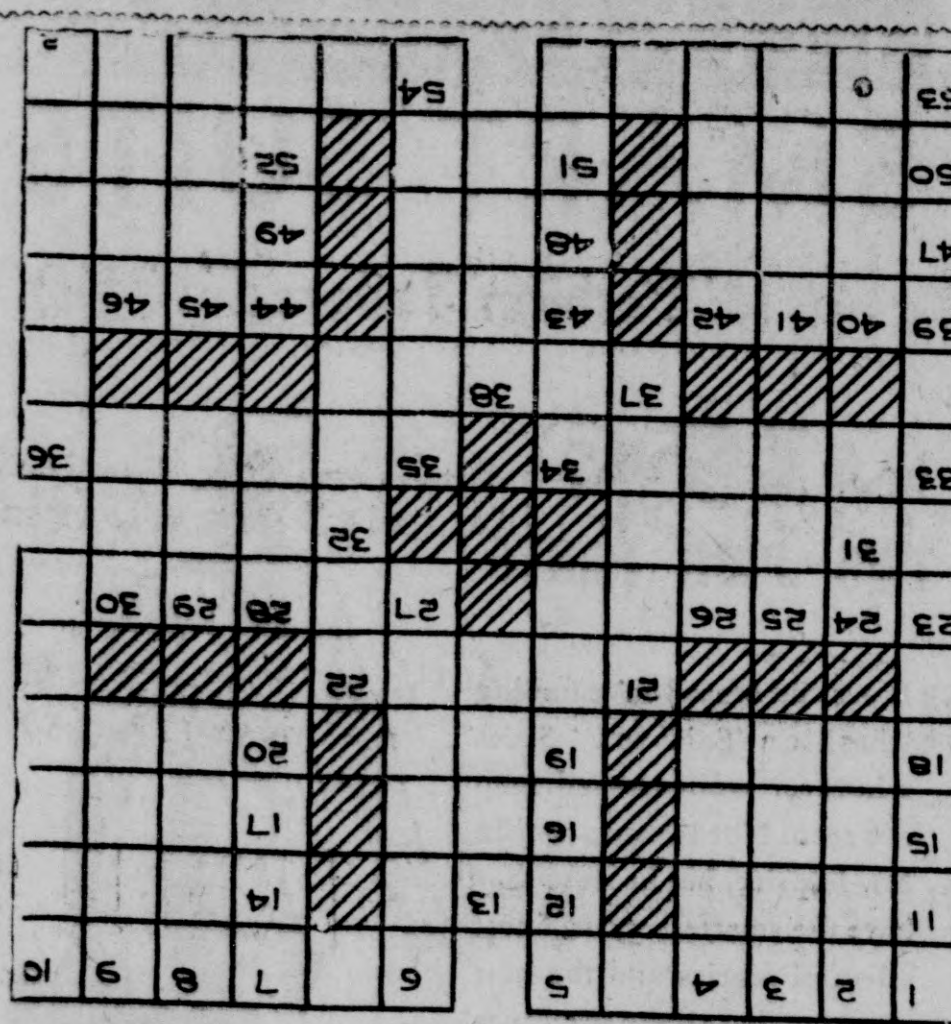

(International News Service)
THE HAGUE April 4.—Americans in the United States who think there is at least one revolution a week in China are just as wrong as Chinese in the Far East who think there is a murder a minute in cities like New York and Chicago.

Such is the view of Dr. Chao Chu Wu, Chinese Minister to Washington, who is here now for the international law. Incidentally, Dr. Wu maintains that the Chinese are much more interested in the practical problem of codification than they are in all this talk about disarmament.

Peter's Adventures

WHY LARVAE LEAVES HOME
Peter hadn't thought his question was very funny, but the Dragon-Flies chuckled and chuckled.

"Why do we change from larvae to Dragon-Flies?" repeated they, and with one voice they answered: "Because we have to! We haven't a thing to do about it. Old Mother Nature made us that way, and when the time comes for us to leave the pool and take to the air, we do. That's all there is to it." Then the Dragon-Flies thought better of such a brief explanation and decided to tell Peter all about it.

"You see it's this way," they began. "After we have been larvae for a long while for some reason or other we never found out, we are obliged to change our clothes. We shed our skins, toss them right off like that!" The Dragon-Flies flapped their wings. "And some time later we change coats again. At last we are not larvae at all, really, but Pupae—our coats are shiny, and so clear one can almost look through them. And by and by, if one's eyes are bright enough, one can see our wing patterns growing."

"It's the queerest thing I ever heard," began Peter, but the Dragon-Flies went right on, paying no attention to the boy's interruption. "When our wings begin to show we know that the time is drawing near when we shall leave our old home for a new one. We begin to lose our appetites, we feel tired and drowsy. We pant for air and, for the first time in our lives, hate the dark water and long for the bright sunlight. There comes a day when we notice that a certain weed pokes a leaf out of the water. If we are soon to go out into the world to seek our fortune, why not crawl up to the top of the weed and look the world over before we start out on our adventure. So up the weed leaf we slowly crawl, excited, yet a little fearful. We cling to the stem with our tiny legs, and at last we reach the surface of the water. Up and up! We keep on going until—"

ARAB AT NILES TO BE DEPORTED

NILES, Ohio, April 4.—Following an investigation by immigration authorities, Albert Mohamed of Niles was arrested last night by police on a charge of illegally entering the United States.

Mohamed was turned over to A. E. Weatherbee, immigration inspector for this district, for reportation. He will be returned to Aden, Arabia, the port from which he shipped to this country.

Mohamed told police he has lived in Niles three years. He said he came from New York, where he had deposed the ship on which he worked his passage as a stoker.

A passport found in his possession revealed that he is a British subject, a native of British East Indies. He will be held in Youngstown while arrangements are made for his deportation.

The switchman was not in the pants at the time. The trousers were hanging in a locker at the Southern Pacific station when Jack Blue, railroad employe, saw smoke coming from the locker. He called the firemen, broke open the locker and dragged the garment out on the station platform, where firemen found him panting from his exertion.

Flies Through Storm To Save Woman's Life

(International News Service)
GELLIVARE, Sweden, April 4.—By "flying it blind" through a snow storm, Sergeant Lindow, pilot of an ambulance plane, attached to the Swedish sub-arctic fortress, Boden, was able to save the life of a woman patient. Despite the storm and the Arctic semi-darkness, he was able to land her safely near the hospital. She lived in Jettjarvi, a pioneering village about a hundred miles from Gellivare, and the only transportation available in winter time is by air.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

One of the things the 1930 census will do is to give us a better knowledge of how many farm people there are.

Strange as it may seem, nobody knows this very simple and elementary fact, and this is because it is much harder than you would think to define what a "farm" is.

Everybody knows, of course, that a city lot or a railroad yard is not a farm. And when you get out in the country and find a big piece of ground growing crops and feeding livestock, there is no question about that, either.

It is the in-between places, the small land tracks at the edges of small villages, the gardens and orchards and truck patches, that make the census men wince their fevered brows. Are they farms, or are they not? Are they to be classified by size, or by the amount of stuff they grow, or by the chief income of the owner, or what?

It is a very intricate subject, and it has to be settled on the soundest possible basis, because so many people are interested, in one way or another, in these statistics.

The census of 1930 is taking a slightly different slant, which promises to turn up figures which will be, on the whole, more valuable and enlightening than anything we have had before.

It starts with the idea that the unit of farming is not a farm, but a farmer—in other words, it is the people, not the ground, that matters. Thus a farm may be a 50,000-acre ranch, or an acre of some very valuable crop, just so it is a single person that operates it, by himself or with the help of his family or hired hands.

Similarly, if a 320-acre farm is operated jointly by one man with two tenants, as might easily be the case, that will be one farm, but three farms, although the acreage is all in one block, and not divided in any way.

Of course there must be some absolute lower limit of size, and this is ordinarily three acres of ground. But if the product of a smaller acreage is $250 or more in 1929, that will count as a farm just the same, no matter how small the plot of ground.

What we will have when the census is finished, therefore, is really a count of farm families, which is, after all, what the nation is principally interested in.

Whether this method will make a big change in the old figures we are so familiar with, the six and a quarter million farms of continental United States, remains to be seen. Probably it won't. But we will have more confidence in the new figures than we have now, that is certain.

University Students Urge Dry Law Repeal

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND April 4.—A straw vote of 2,256 students at Western Reserve University here shows about three to one vote against enforcement of the prohibition laws. The actual vote was: for enforcement, 559; for modification, 881; for repeal, 816. Women students favor modification over repeal and men repeal over modification.

Weightman, according to his own admission, plans to make a trans-Atlantic flight with Crocyden field, London, or Le Bourget field, Paris, as his objective.

The plane in which Weightman will make the attempt is a Fokker, which is now being conditioned for an early hop.

Weightman declined to reveal from which field he will take off.

Berlin Streets Still Have Emperors' Name

(International News Service)
BERLIN, April 4.—"Too many streets in Berlin still bear the names of former monarchs."

"This is the bitter plaint of the Zwelf Uhr Blatt, democratic newspaper.

"Berliners, who are the strongest supporters of the Republic, are too often reminded of their former rulers when they read the names of the streets," says the newspaper. "There are too many Hohenzollern streets. Only one street is named after the first president of the Republic, Ebert."

"We want the streets named after more Republicans, to remind Berliners they are really living in a Republic."

FAMOUS PLANE BEING GROOMED FOR RECORD TRY

(International News Service)
WILMINGTON, Del., April 4.—For more than three years, the Roma, a Beilanca monoplane, has been groomed for a score of expeditions, first to Italy, then to Spain, then to the Argentine, then across the United States, and other places on the face of the globe.

In the minds of the employees at the Beilanca Aircraft Corporation, and enthusiastic newspaper men, the plane was destined for great accomplishments.

Now, it rests meekly in the hanger at the Bellanca Field, near New Castle, a few miles south of here, awaiting another much talked of expedition. This time, George W. Haldeman, trans-Atlantic flier and claimer of the altitude record in commercial planes, is planning to take the plane up soon on a solo endurance test.

Attached to the plane is a long and involved history of legal suits, injunctions, replevins and attachments by sheriffs. Also there are reams of newspaper columns telling about what various aviators were going to accomplish with the ship and so forth. But, Haldeman is determined that this time, the Roma, renamed the Beilanca "K," shall at least secure definite fame for itself and not mere paper laurels.

The plane was built by G. M. Beilanca as his pride and joy. Captain Cesare Sabelli, an Italian aviator, two years ago groomed it for a trans-oceanic flight to Italy and even in that country, a delegation prepared to greet it.
Twice, the ship tried to take off at Old Orchard, Me., and twice it failed. Finally the trip was abandoned. Then suits innumerable followed.

Bad Grass Fires Alarm Residents

Firemen were called to the outskirts of the city near Mercer and Glenmore Boulevard and Mercer and Englewood avenue by serious grass fires this morning.

At 10:30, Chief Lynn was notified through the Second ward department that there was a bad grass fire near Mercer and Glenmore boulevard. On arriving at the scene, he found that it was outside the city and was not endangering property. It was allowed to burn and that portion not burning was backfired to prevent a future occurrence.

At 11:45, a number of residents on Englewood avenue, near Mercer street, called Central station, stating that there was a bad grass fire in that vicinity. No. 2 department was sent to the scene to prevent any damage to property.

Puzzled Census Takers in Filmland

The census man is on the job, and there is trouble ahead of him in Hollywood, when he begins counting noses in the famous movie colony. Unless he is careful he is likely to get his names all twisted on official records. The above segregation of stars of filmland with the names by which they are known on Uncle Sam's roster are a test for your memory of faces and names. An interesting thing is to carefully go over the picture, just as the census man must go over the colony, and try if you recognize your favorite film stars by these names.

Gets Paid For Bear He Failed To Shoot

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, April 4.—A bold hunter, Vladimir Horkov, who in 30 below zero weather camped out for a whole month waiting to shoot a big black bear as it came out of its cave and then let the beast walk out on him while taking a noon day snooze, was awarded 130 rubles for his trouble by the Soviet court of appeals.
Horkov was hired by Kalakutsky, secretary of the Ural Mountain Hunting club, who wanted a bearskin but was too timid to shoot a bear. Kalakutsky said Horkov agreed to sit at the bear's front door and do the shooting for the animal's meat. The court in awarding judgment to Horkov, however, ruled that in Soviet Russia payment for services to be rendered could not depend on a gamble. But the assessment of 130 rubles didn't make Kalakutsky half so mad as hearing at the trial that the bear had been shot from under Horkov's shoring nose by a third hunter named Pentz.

INDIAN HEAD IN STONE DUG UP WITH CLAY

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—A stone believed to be a carving in granite of the profile of an Indian face has been unearthed near Oakford Bucks County, in the Nesha-miny Valley, by Stanley Osborn, an amateur archaeologist here.
The stone was found in a field imbedded in 18 inches of yellow clay, and when stripped of this revealed an Indian profile with sharp features. If the profile is the authentic work of an Indian craftsman, it is very probable that it has lain in this section for a period of more than a hundred years, Osborn said.
The forehead is pointed and the mouth and nose, while discernible, are somewhat narrow and crudely finished. This crudeness, Osborn said, might have been caused by the elements during the many years the stone was buried.
The carving has a notch behind the line of the forehead and another sharply cut out at the base of the neck. These cuts have led Osborn to believe that at one time the stone-image was attached to the head of a pole. Thus, in this position, Osborn said, when the sunlight was the strongest, it would cast a profile shadow on the wigwam of a tribal chieftain.

In the field where the young archaeologist found the carving, a few stones which resemble white flint arrow-heads were unearthed. Osborn is going to continue his excavations, he announced.

Captain Hawks Is In Indiana

(International News Service)
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 4.—More than 2,000 spectators cheered Captain Frank Hawks when he arrived in his plane-towed glider at Dresser airport here at 10 a. m. today. Captain Hawks cut off from the plane above the field and glided to a landing. He will take off from here for Indianapolis.

Interest Shown At Meetings On Farms, Thursday

J. R. Haswell of State College, was the speaker at two field drainage meetings held in Lawrence county, Thursday.

The first meeting was at the farm of John Pherson, Washington township, at 10:00 a. m. The other meeting was at the farm of S. B. Hayes, North Beaver township, at 2:00 p. m. Both meetings proved to be very interesting. Mr. Haswell, an expert in this line, explained methods of leveling and laying tile.

Young Chicago Bride Is Slain

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 4.—Search for the slayer who strangled Mrs. Mildred Helsing 26 year old housewife, by winding a satin ribbon about her throat turned today to a youth of 17 or 18 and a beggar, both of whom were seen near the Helsing apartment on the day of the murder. Neighbors saw the suspected youth shortly before the young bride was slain. He is believed to have robbed three apartments in a nearby building only an hour before Mrs. Helsing was strangled to death in her apartment.

Police continued their efforts to locate a ragged beggar who was seen about the building in which the Helsing lived.

Bigamist Freed On Technicality

(International News Service)
BERLIN, April 4.—Hermann Schmidt, German foreman, facing trial on the charge of bigamy, had to be acquitted for technical judicial reasons, although he had married a Russian woman without having been divorced from his first wife, a German woman.

Being told by an expert of Russian law that while bigamy was not allowed in Soviet Russia, bigamists were not prosecuted there, the court ruled that Schmidt had to be acquitted, because it was impossible under the German law to prosecute a German for something regarded a crime in Germany, but not in the foreign country, where the "crime" was committed.

Schmidt married for the first time in 1903, in Germany. The couple separated, but they were not divorced. Schmidt went to Russia, married a Russian girl under the so-called registration license regulations, returned to Germany with his second wife, and was denounced by his first wife.

Attendance Records Soar As Prices Drop

In brief, that is the gist of our message to you today. During the past two weeks all attendance records at our market have been shattered, which in itself is ample proof that you can buy "better meats" here at prices that are right.

It is not our policy to cut prices or undersell our competitors. We do not wish to give our new customers the impression that they can buy here at prices cheaper than all other markets in the city. We do wish, however, to put across the fact that if you want "better meats"—where choice cuts of meat command first consideration and prices are merely secondary—that you visit our market at once.

Due to increased sales we now are in a position to lower our prices on several specialties that may appear inviting to you. Look over the list offered below and decide for yourself. If it's "better meat" you want—we have it. We also carry a nice line of groceries and fresh vegetables.

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 4.—In the recent ministerial crisis the saying was "He who laughs last, laughs best" and Deputy Edouard Daladier, Radical Socialist, can chuckle for the rest of his life.
As a member of the cabinet of M.

Camille Chautemps, which was voted out of office after a couple of days of existence, M. Daladier held the portfolio of Minister of Public Instruction.

It has been revealed that anyone who has headed this ministry for a day or even ten minutes is entitled to free transportation over the French railroads for life.

As one was remarked, if France goes through many more governmental downfalls in the near future there won't be room for paying passengers in railway coaches—every place will be taken by a former Minister of Public Instruction.

AMERICANISM: Feeling resentful because that rich family rebuffs all advances; feeling annoyed because that poor family tries to be friendly.

You see, the extra yard of cloth in a size 42 makes it cost $32.50 more than a size 34 because the manufacturer bets the 42 has a rich husband.

President Hoover May Be Destined to Remake Entire U. S. Supreme Court

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4.—President Hoover probably is destined to completely re-make the United States Supreme Court during his administration.

It is a responsibility that falls on comparatively few Presidents, but one that impresses them all. The late Chief Justice William Howard Taft once said that the greatest sense of responsibility he felt as President was in the naming of Supreme Court Justices.

Some Presidents appoint many; some few, depending upon the whims of fate. Warren G. Harding was only President little more than two years, yet he was called upon to name four of the nine Justices. Calvin Coolidge was President for some six years, yet he named but one.

All the laws of probability, however, point to President Hoover appointing a majority of the Supreme bench before leaving office. It is almost a certainty if he is an eight-year President.

In the White House but little more than a year, Mr. Hoover has already been called upon to name two members of the highest American tribunal. He filled one vacancy with the appointment of Charles Evan Hughes, and he has yet to appoint a successor to the late Justice Edward Terry Sanford.

While no other vacancies appear imminent in the court, there is the venerable Oliver Wendell Holmes, now in his ninetieth year; Justices Van Devanter and Brandeis are past the retirement age, being 71 and 74 respectively. In two more years, before the Hoover term expires, Justice McReynolds, who is 68, and Justice Sutherland, also 68, will be eligible for retirement, while Justice Butler, 66, will reach retirement age in 1933.

Of course, they may not retire. There is the example before them of that grand old patriarch, Justice Holmes, who passed his 89th year, who became eligible for retirement nearly two decades ago, and who yet is one of the most active members of the bench, as well as its keener mind.

But whether any of the Justices voluntarily retire or not, fate is a capricious thing, and the mortality rate among men of sedentary habits and occupation after reaching 65 is fairly high. Justice Sanford was only 63 and apparently had been in perfect health until the morning of his sudden death.

Thus it is wholly probable that in the natural course of events the personnel of the highest American tribunal will be almost completely changed during the Presidency of Herbert Hoover, and the effects of the changes will be felt in American affairs for many years to come.

It is not considered likely that President Hoover will ever again name a Supreme Court Justice without consultation with any of his advisers—as he did in the case of Chief Justice Hughes. No one in Washington knew that Mr. Hughes was to be named until Mr. Hoover informed the Republican leaders of the Senate. The Chief Justiceship had been offered and Mr. Hughes had accepted by that time.

Some of the opposition to Justice Hughes' confirmation undoubtedly was engendered by a feeling on the part of certain Senators that in a matter so important as choosing a Chief Justice there should have been some consultation between the President and his advisers. To these Senators the constitutional phrase "with the advice and consent of the Senate" is no an idle admonition to the Chief Executive.

Men's Meeting Here On Sunday

Rev. John S. Hamilton To Speak At Afternoon Meeting—Welsh To Assist

First Presbyterian church should be filled to capacity Sunday afternoon when a men's meeting for every man in the city will be held. The meeting is a forerunner of the evangelistic services to be held in the Rescue Mission for the coming two weeks under the auspices of the Bible classes of various churches of the city, with Rev. John S. Hamilton of Winona Lake, Ind., as the speaker.

Rev. Hamilton is a powerful speaker, according to the reports coming from the West. He is particularly effective in an all-men's meeting and the meeting Sunday afternoon is one that should be well attended.

With Hamilton will be Homer Welch, the Grove City songbird, who will have charge of the music. The Sunday afternoon meeting will start at three o'clock and the ministers of the various churches of the city are asked to announce it from their pulpits Sunday morning.

A sadness is caused by his death owing to the fact that his sister, Mrs. Crowe, has been confined to her bed by illness for the past month and is unable to go to see him.

Central Christian Services Continue To Attract Crowd

Many new faces were interpreted in the large audience last night that filled the lower floors to its capacity at the Central Christian church where the great inspiring Pentecost campaign is in progress under the efficient leadership of the Small and Hess evangelistic party.

After the disposition of the preliminaries, Evangelist Small read his text from Timothy, second chapter and fifteenth verse.

The services begin tonight promptly at 7:30 and Evangelist Small will preach on the subject, "The Wedding Invitation."

Revival Services Started Thursday

Last evening marked the beginning of the ten days missionary evangelistic services being held by the Pentecostal church in the Epworth church.

Rev. Everett Phillips of Beaver Falls, gave the evangelistic message speaking on "Excuses men offer for not accepting Christ."

Teamster Jailed On Murder Charge

SHARON, Pa., April 3.—Joe Harnett, 40, a teamster, was held for court without bail on a murder charge in connection with the death in Bull hospital Monday night of Henry Divil 89. He was injured when robbed at his parking ground in Porter way, about midnight last Saturday.

Only circumstantial evidence was presented against Harnett at his hearing before Alderman W. C. Applegate. Officers are of the opinion that two men committed the holdup, but they are without clues to the identity of the other person.

Divil died from a fracture of the skull, the result of a blow from some blunt instrument. His assailants escaped with about $11 overlooking more than $175 which he had pinned to his clothing.

VOTERS SEEM TO PREFER POLITICIANS

Business Administrations Invariably Bow Before Professional Campaigners; Huston, Republican Chairman, Deserted By Apostles Of Party In Congress

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Politics is not as black as it is painted. Business is the real brunet.

If folk would take a good look they would recognize this.

Evidently they do know it subconsciously, but they fail to take cognizance of it with that part of their minds that they think with.

They prove that they know it subconsciously by almost never allowing a "business administration" to remain long in office. It is notorious that such administrations are short-lived, and that an administration of business men almost invariably is followed by reversion to a political administration.

Politicians do have their faults, unmistakably.

After they have been running things for awhile, the voters get thoroughly sick of them, and decide to put business men on the job and keep them there forevermore.

Sure enough, they elect a business administration, which is inaugurated with tremendous eclat, promptly gets itself intensely disliked, is relegated to oblivion at the end of about one term—and back come the politicians, their popularity fully rehabilitated and ready to run a fresh gamut until the time arrives for another one-term business interval.

This sequence is so persistent that it attracted attention long ago and plenty of people have asked themselves and one another what the explanation was.

The generally accepted theory seems to be that blunt business honesty can triumph only briefly over political chicanery.

Even with the senate lobby investigating committee's revelations still filling the newspapers it appears to occur to no one that political standards are decidedly higher than business'—and that the voters manifestly see the difference most of the time.

The business men who take office when a business administration is chosen usually are all right personally, to be sure.

The complex they represent is what, if anything, is the matter. Business men unquestionably think, in all honesty, that everything belongs to business—not to them, individually, but to business, as an abstract proposition.

A business administration must agree with them or it would not be a business administration.

Business' psychology is difficult to describe, but maybe an illustration will demonstrate it.

To save their lives, Claudius Huston and the business world, it is perfectly plain, cannot understand what there is to criticize in Claudius' past connection with Muscle Shoals lobbying activities, taken in connection with his present connection with the G. O. P. national committee, as its chairman.

Well, what is there in it, to criticize?

Oh, nothing in particular; it was all perfectly legal. And yet every politician in Washington can see what there is to criticize. Not a Republican voice is raised in Claudius' defense in congress when the newspapers pan him.

Claudius certainly will have to resign as G. O. P. national chairman, because the congressional campaigns are just coming on, and it is agreed among G. O. P. senators and representatives that Republican candidates cannot afford to have him at the head of their party organization, with their seats at stake.

It is embarrassing, inasmuch as Claudius was President Hoover's selection for the G. O. P. chairmanship—but Mr. Hoover is a business administrator, and most of this year's candidates are politicians; they have to be particular.

Acid In Paris Air Makes Status Decay

PARIS, April 4.—The sulphuric acid widely prevalent in the atmosphere of the French capital is blamed by experts for the decay of ancient statuary. The church is over 700 years old.

(International News Service) LONDON, April 4.—Queen Mary's automobile will be more easily recognized by American visitors and Londoners in the future. It has been fitted with a hooter which sounds distinctive musical notes. Many Wolves Seen In Hills Of North France

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 4.—Although France has experienced an unusually mild winter, a large number of the Northern inhabitants have had trouble keeping the wolf from the door, and this refers to the animal itself, for a large number of them have been seen in the Vosges mountain districts, a favorite haunt of the French wolf. Since the war, a large number of wolf-cubs have been killed or trapped in the Marne department as well as in the Meuse.

A warm winter such as the present one occurs once every 372 years in Paris, according to Abbe Gabriel, well-known weather-prophet, who generally knows which way the wind will blow. And each time there are accompanying tempests to emphasize the rarity of their occurrence. This year's mildness has left practically no illness behind it and automobile traffic has been unusually heavy with people getting off to the country for long week-ends.

Little antiquity shops run by American women are bobbing up all over the city these days. The most recent one is "Au Vieux Temps" in the old rue de la Tour, one of the oldest streets in Passy which formerly led to the old Convent des Bonschommes. It is kept by Mrs. Suzanne Miles Pier-son who has made her home in Paris for a number of years and is making a specialty of old English objects.

A very important change is soon going to be made in the headgear of the French soldier. The old "kepi" worn by him before the war is to be restored and the little "bonnet de police," made legendary by the "Tiger," is to go. Just what shape and color the kepi will take on has not yet been decided upon, but many points are now being discussed by many specialists who decree these military modes.

A good sign of the changing times and of the coming age of automobiles is to be seen in the gradual disappearance of the Paris street-car which is beginning to pack-up and follow the old horse and buggy. A large number of the lines which ran through the center of the city have been suppressed and steps are being made to do away with many others. The French tramway runs with much less noise than the American variety, but also with much less speed and is the cause of many a tie-up of the growing traffic.

The President's old victoria carriage has been sent to a museum and one good French citizen recently proposed this same step for one of the little French trams.

French Universities Pay Small Salaries

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 4.—University professors in France are paid only $240 a year, it was learned when students at the University of Rennes struck because they weren't getting enough instructions in lectures.

The matter was referred to the central educational authorities here who explained the difficulty and announced that the striking students would soon be back at their desks.

The trouble began several years ago, when the two extra courses were provided, the city of Rennes offering to pay an extra $300 a year to the necessary professors. These professors were already paid only $240 a year by the Federal government. When the franc was stabilized on a gold basis and the cost of living increased, the professors asked more pay.

The State and City replied with a refusal, and cancelled the professor's contracts. This didn't suit the students, who promptly struck for "longer and better hours."

Half Million People Visit Art Exhibition

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 4.—Half a million people passed through the turnstiles to Burlington House during the nine weeks of the Italian Art Exhibition, just closed.

Never before has there been such a horde of visitors to a similar exhibition in London or elsewhere, so far as records show.

These half-million, many of whom came almost daily to be amused by the rare tints of old canvases, witnessed the rarest view of Old Masters ever brought together.

The majority of the paintings and etchings came from Italy where, under the instructions of Il Duce himself, many private galleries belonging to noble families disgorged their treasures hidden for centuries. American collectors answered handsomely to the appeal and canvases came from Britain and nearly every country in Europe.

"Elite" In Britain Are Boxing Fans

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 4.—England goes America one better! Miami may have its "tea" prize fight, but London has its "cocktail" four-round bouts.

Peruses and show girls rubbed mink and sable, and mingled cries at the ring-side of a fast mix-up promising light-weights.

Liveried servants pass trays of cocktails and glasses of bubbling champagne to the excited guests between rounds in the home of one of England's greatest financial promoters.

Lord X, shall we say, who has won his "blue" for boxing at his university, officiated at referee, and refused to bias his decision at the offer of a kiss from one of the ring-side spectators.

Police Confiscate All Street Scales

(International News Service)
FRESNO, Calif., April 4.—Fresnoans who have been weighing themselves daily in order to check their diets are baffled. All scales and weighing machines disappeared from the city. Sixteen street scales have been taken to police headquarters by officers. Street scales are against the law in Fresno. Owners may reclaim them but must not park them on public property, Captain of Police J. P. Murphy announced.

Start Work On New Waldorf-Astoria

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 4.—Construction work has been started on the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, which will occupy an entire block between Park and Lexington and Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets, here. Oscar, famous chef of the old Waldorf-Astoria, was among the notables who helped to drive the first rivet into the steel work of the structure.

FILM WRITERS ARE NOW USING DICTAPHONES

By FREDERIC A. CHASE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—If you have a dictaphone, or something similar, you would like to trade for a typewriter, come to Hollywood. The scenario writers are reported to be exchanging their typewriters for the telephonic equipment, because they have discovered that the best way to write dialogue is by word of mouth. No longer do they sit at a machine and make symbols on paper. That way there is too much chance for words to creep in which have literary, rather than speaking, value. Written dialogue, they say, is stilted; that which is dictated is natural.

William McNutt and Grover Jones, dialogue writing teams, are leading the van in the matter of installation of dictaphones. McNutt and Jones work together on their manuscripts. Each takes half of the story, they talk it over, and then each dictates his part. They next look over each other's work and polish it up. The script for "The Light of Western Stars," their latest effort, went on twelve dictaphone cylinders. More than fifty, however, were used before the story was revised and ready.

Women's feet are getting larger. For twelve years Frank Richardson has been buying shoes for all actresses, famous stars, and other work appearing in Paramount pictures. He is head of the Hollywood studio's wardrobe department.

star wore an A or a Triple A last. Today the average star has a four-and-one-half B foot," says Richardson.

Higher heels are the cause of it, he believes. The higher the heel, the more weight is thrown on the ball of the foot. That makes the toes spread.

Something new in the way of making contracts was introduced when Mary Lewis, the opera star, concluded an agreement with E. B. Derr, vice-president of the Pathe Studios. Instead of writing the contract out on paper in the conventional way, the two made a talking picture of their obligation, speaking the terms and shaking hands in conclusion. No other contracts or written agreements were made.

Two copies were made of the thin strip of celluloid, which promises Miss Lewis remuneration for her singing in talkies at the reported rate of $4000 a minute.

ILLINOIS FACED WITH PROBLEM OF CROWDED JAILS

(International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 4.—The state of Illinois faces squarely a problem of the first magnitude in its prison riddle.

During the last twelve months the state's prison population registered its biggest increase in its history and at present the population of the state's penal institution is increasing at the rate of over three persons a day.

On March 1, 1930, the state had in its custody 8,968 criminals. This total compares with 7,834 in prison a year ago.

A serious overcrowding of all state prisons, conducive to an outbreak at any time, was found when the administration of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson took over the reins of government. Cells originally constructed for one man were housing two and sometimes three prisoners and other conditions were similarly as bad.

To alleviate the situation, the general assembly appropriated funds for construction of new cell blocks with a capacity of 2,800 prisoners. This, it was felt, was ample margin.

However, if the present ratio of increase continues during the two year period new arrivals at the penal institutions will take up 2,200 of the new cells, leaving only 600 cells to take care of the present overflow.

Solution, state officials believe, lies in further appropriations by the next general assembly for construction of further quarters for the state's criminal wards.

CHICAGO, April 4.—A man can't escape alimony in the grave. Friends of Sebastian Schneider say he is dead.

Mrs. Sebastian Schneider, recently divorced, says, dead or alive, he owes her $755 in back alimony payments. Judge Harry A. Lewis says, dead or alive, he must appear and show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

States.

If you lack the vigorous health, strength and energy that you enjoyed in earlier years, you will be interested in the statements of men and women that are appearing in this newspaper, telling how Ten Herbs helped them back to superb health. Many state that they did not have to wait long for results, as the ten wonderful herbal ingredients of this amazing new liquid medicine went right to the source of such health troubles as stomach, liver, kidneys and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. What Ten Herbs has done for others it should do for you.

Get a bottle today at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., this city, where this famous compound is being introduced.

"I was highly pleased with the way Ten Herbs put an end to my several ailments," said Mrs. Albert Murphy, R. F. D. No. 3, Beaver Falls.

"Your medicine seemed to cleanse and tone up my whole system. Before taking Ten Herbs, I suffered from indigestion every day. I cannot describe how almost every kind of food caused me distress or discomfort. My stomach would bloat with gas and seemed to fill with an acid sourness, which caused a burning feeling like heartburn. Gas caused a pressure on my heart, shortness of breath, and a gurgling sound in my left side. At times constipation bothered me, and I would become bilious. There were rheumatic pains all over my body."

"Ten Herbs was so well recommended to me that I started using your medicine. I surely was pleased with the way it gave me complete relief from gas, bloating, sourness, heartburn, and other distress due to indigestion. I no longer get short of breath. My appetite has improved, and food gives me proper nourishment. I am free of constipation, biliousness and rheumatic pains. My blood is in better condition. Ten Herbs has benefited me so greatly that I have only words of praise for your medicine."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Grave Digger Who Sleeps In Coffin, Scares Officials

SEVILLE, April 4.—A grave digger of the village of Aznalcollá, who sleeps in a coffin, recently scared the wits out of medico-legal authorities who went to the village cemetery to perform an autopsy at night.

The judge investigating the murder of Jose Martinez at the hands of a fellow laborer was Don Carlos Lama-drid, who accompanied by Dr. Juan Sanchez and an assistant went to the morgue, located in the cemetery. Once inside, Don Carlos lighted a candle, and much to his surprise, the body which was lying in the coffin arose.

The trio fled without the loss of any time, and when the grave digger yelled at them in an attempt to explain matters, he only made things worse.

English Married Men Form Henpeck Club

The membership at present is about 500 and it is expected that this will be increased before long to 40,000. The object is to free husbands from oppression of the females.

WHERE DO THEY ALL COME FROM?

You've noticed the Yellow and Red of SHELL appearing here, there and everywhere overnight. Where do all these stations come from? • • They don't come from anywhere. They've been right there all the while. SHELL hasn't simply bought thousands of new stations in one great sweeping gesture. • • The owners of these stations have changed to SHELL. • • Let that fact sink in. These stations have changed to SHELL because every day there are more thousands of car owners changing to SHELL. • • What makes a car owner change to SHELL? Because when he has tried it, he finds he likes it better. • • It's all as simple as that. More stations to serve the added motorists who become steady users of SHELL—every day—and more business for each dealer. • • We know why SHELL users stick to SHELL. So do the SHELL users. You'll find the answer when you, too, change to SHELL.

Physicist Probes Structure Of Atom

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., April 4.—Extending researches which won for him in January the $1,000 prize of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Professor Arthur J. Dempster, University of Chicago physicist, has now proved that not only hydrogen atoms but also the atoms and molecules of heavier substances are vibrating at tremendous speed.

Since only those particles which carry an electrical charge are observed in association with this peculiar wave-form, the experiments suggest that the wave-phenomenon may be a function of the electric charge and not a property of the particle itself.

By propelling streams of positively-charged particles against a diamond crystal, and then dividing the reflected ray in a strong magnetic field, Dr. Dempster was able to photograph their "diffraction-patterns," patterns peculiar to things having the wave-form, proving that the particles were vibrating like light-rays as well as shooting forward like projectiles.

In his previous observations Dr. Dempster had recorded this effect only for the nuclei of hydrogen atoms. When the reflected ray was divided, in the latest experiments, the patterns indicate the presence of combinations of atoms, or molecules, of hydrogen, oxygen and water vapor.

May Appoint Women Judges In Austria

(International News Service)
VIENNA, April 4.—Austrian women lawyers might be appointed in the future as judges of the Austrian Juvenile Courts, according to an announcement made recently by the Minister of Justice, Herr Slama, in the Austrian Parliament.

The Minister of Justice took a stand against a resolution voted by a recent convention of Viennese judges protesting against the government's plan sponsoring the employment of women in the judiciary. The Minister emphasized that certain branches of the judiciary especially the Juvenile Courts are particularly adaptable for feminine jurisdiction.

Talk Is Not Cheap To Film Executives

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 4.—Talk is not always cheap, at least for William Le Baron, motion picture executive.

Over in Copenhagen, Denmark, Herbert Brenon began to enthuse about a Danish play. When he got real hot on the subject he decided he had better tell Le Baron about it.

This he did by long distance telephone. The first three minutes cost $60.50 and after that it got cheaper as Brenon warmed to his theme and began going into details—but not so Brenon $984 but what's $984 between motion picture friends when they want to talk.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS
WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

Many injuries have been received from readers of The Question Box concerning the symbols of Easter and the reason for their adoption.

To the Norsemen the festival of the divinity of spring, which they called Astara of Eastre, from which came the word Easter, was especially the season of new birth. The symbols of the Easter egg and of the Easter rabbit as prolific reproducers of new life arose from this festival. Springs and wells were decorated with flowers in token of the returning flow of water as a life-giving necessity. The custom of baptismal cleanliness, purification and regeneration naturally followed. The coloring of Easter eggs was borrowed from the rays of the Aurora Borealis—the northern lights—and the dawning hues of the Easter sun and flowers peculiar to that season of the year.

Who wrote the novel "Wild Geese?"

Martha Ostenso, 29 year old writer of Norwegian descent, who resides in Minneapolis, Minn., wrote the novel, which was published in 1925.

What Indian posed for the Indian head on the buffalo nickel?

Director R. J. Grant of the United States mint says it is that bureau's understanding that no particular Indian posed as a model, but that the head is merely an idealized Indian type.

Please tell me in what year the first motor car appeared and who was the inventor.

Carl Benz, of Germany, invented the two stroke motor in 1879 and in 1886 drove the first motor car through the streets of Munich. The first gasoline automobile in the United States was operated April 19, 1892, by its inventor C. A. Duryea.

Is it possible to have a Democratic president and a Republican vice president or vice versa?

Yes, if no nominee receives a complete majority of votes in the electoral college, under the constitution the house of representatives elects the president and senate the vice president. The same party is not always in control of both these branches of congress, making it possible for one party representative to be selected in one house, and another party representative in the other.

What is the muzzle velocity of a bullet shot from a Springfield rifle?

The present model of this rifle adopted by the ordnance department has a muzzle velocity of 2,700 feet per second.

PLAN MONSTER RESTAURANT FOR GIANT BUILDING

CHICAGO, April 4.—The world's largest building is to contain the largest restaurant.

The building is the new Merchandise Mart, now approaching completion, which contains more cubic feet space than any other structure built by man.

Plans for the monster restaurant have been announced by Andrew C. Weisburg, hotel man and Henry C. Gordon, restaurant operator, who have a twenty-year lease on the restaurant rights in the great central market structure.

The restaurant will be divided into five units with a capacity of feeding 10,000 people a day. To take care of this vast number of eaters, it will require daily 500 pounds of butter, between 800 and 600 pounds of beef, 3,000 pounds of potatoes, 300 dozen eggs, 750 dozen rolls and 240 fowl. In addition to this will be enormous quantities of vegetables and fruits which it is difficult to estimate.

On one side of the great 650-foot grand lobby will be the men's grill, accommodating 200 at a time; and the main dining room for men and women, with a capacity of 600 at a time. Opposite these will be a lunch counter about 1,000 feet long, which can care for the needs of at least 5,000 a day and a soda fountain capable of serving 1200 a day. These will be grouped about a huge kitchen, which according to Mr. Gordon, who is also general manager of the restaurant, will be the most modern in equipment and service yet put into operation in this country. The plans for the restaurants have been augmented to include a women's grill and tea room on the mezzanine floor to accommodate 450 people. Outside of these five units, a special service for tenants in their offices and display rooms will be provided that will enable them to order from any one of the five restaurants. Livered employees will deliver the orders on electric seated wagons at any time of the day.

GRIDLEY, Cal., April 4.—The year's first rattlesnake story: Bob Biggs, removing a fence post, found a snake with six rattlers at the bottom of the hole. Snakes are rare in this district, and this one was believed to have been washed down by high water. Biggs used the fence post as a ram to dispatch the snake.

Of Women's Clubs

Nothing pertaining to the welfare of the nation is of little moment to that large group of women known as club women.

The club women, as we know them, are the aggressive, the inquiring class of women; the seekers after new knowledge and more knowledge and after better ways of doing this thing and every thing, both for themselves, their neighbor and their nation. Organized, in earlier years, for purely selfish motives—for those were the days when women were timid and wary of stepping out of beaten tracks of daily toil where no one, not even the nation cared enough about it to stop it.

They have looked into the desperate eyes of the unemployed and saw visioned there the hungry children without bread, in this land of plenty.

They have listened to the plea for "personal liberty" from women and children crushed by drunken men and then caught the echo of a false freedom cry that would renew that blighting of lives.

They have heard the tolling of the death knell for the thousands of mothers who die each year in childbirth—1250 in Pennsylvania alone last year—and sickened at the indifference of a nation that is so anxious over the care of its hogs.

They have grieved over the vast number of deaths of babies under one year of age—13,341 last year in Pennsylvania—and over the heedlessness of a nation to its responsibility for life.

They have seen little children go into life handicapped when a thoughtful concern of parents and a careful preparation by teaching would have surmounted any seeming deficiency and they have felt the tragedy of it.

It has been appalling to these women who have been learning the facts but not so appalling as the recognized facts that much of all this could have been avoided and hence has been unnecessary.

Unnecessary suffering and deprivation and avoidable crime are inexcusable.

Communities can be stirred and through them the state can be prodded to take action against these great losses and against injustice.

Public opinion is a power when it starts working. To mold public opinion and wrap it firmly around a demand for preventive and protective measures and a demand, too, for justice for all is the purpose of the federated clubs.

In keeping with this purpose is the work of the Welfare Department of our County Federation of Women's Clubs. At the next meeting, the April meeting, of the Federation the program will be built around some phase of public welfare.

Examine Jurors

For Dry Opinions

DETROIT, Mich., April 4.—Judge Arthur W. Kilpatrick has ordered all persons summoned for jury duty in prohibition cases to be questioned concerning their views on prohibition enforcement before they are selected for duty. The judge's order came as a result of scores of acquittals in prohibition cases during the past few weeks.

Vice Squad Clicks, Gets Bootlegger

NILES, O., April 4.—Two hours after Safety Director James Holloway appointed a vice squad late yesterday a liquor transporter was nabbed and five gallons of corn whisky was confiscated by the newly organized unit. Sam Joseph of Youngstown, arrested when the liquor was seized, today pleaded guilty before Mayor George O. Marshall and was fined $500 and costs.

Family Has Record For Legal Lights

DOVER, O., April 4.—After Mary Pauline Seikel, Dover attorney, was admitted to practice in Federal Court at Cleveland yesterday by Judge Paul Jones, court attaches announced that the Seikel family is the only one in the eastern division of the northern district having four members practicing in Federal Court.

Edward C. Seikel, Dover and three children, Lewis, Akron, City Solicitor Herman and Miss Seikel, Dover, are the four.

You can guess at a man's opinions if you know how many days he wears a shirt.

National Capital Makes Ready For Invasion Of Army Of Visitors

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Correspondent, New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—With the bursting of the first Japanese cherry blossoms here and the promise of April flowers in the air, Capitol Hill has become thronged with thousands of high school youngsters from points as far south as California and as far north as Maine. And soon, with their release from school by Easter holidays, many hundreds of Pennsylvania's younger generation will join this noisy parade.

The Easter pilgrimage to the capital has become as much a part of Washington's life as the coming and going of congress. It annoys, exasperates, and angers Washingtonians with its violent disregard of all that is proper and dignified but intrigues them with its buoyant air of eager anticipation. They love it.

Happy, excited, bubbling with suppressed energy these youngsters swarm into the capital city. They take possession of the popular hotels which make it a practice to offer special rates to such groups. They crowd the sidewalks in front of these hotels awaiting the buses which carry them from wonder to wonder, buy the bright yellow canes which the souvenir vender offers, chatter, shout, poke themselves into this and that, and in general become typical young nuisances.

Washington becomes angry with them, grumbles and complains, pushes them aside and stumbles over them, but nevertheless looks forward to their invasion each year with feelings of pleasure.

The capital, of course, is the first bit of wonderland to which these young high school persons are introduced by their supervisors. The capital, in fact, draws a long breath of resignation when Easter time approaches.

hides or nails down everything that is loose, and prepares to be alternately amused and trampled upon.

Under the dome of the building the official capital guide takes charge—these talkative fellows who know everything and will tell these youngsters everything at the rate of a quarter per head. But even they find they work to earn their money when facing barrage after barrage of unanswerable questions laid down day after day by these young persons from every quarter of the country.

Behind the guides, the regiments of brightly-dressed, cane-carrying youths and maids wander into every nook and official spot of interest in the capitol. They see the senate in action and are told by their guide that the senate floor is divided into Republican and Democratic portions of the central aisle. That the short dark man sitting on the raised platform is Vice President Curtis and that the tall distinguished-looking individual with white hair on the Republican side is Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, most handsome member of the senate.

Perhaps their guide points out Senator Borah, the man with sparse hair who knows much about prohibition and prohibition affairs, and Senator Heflin of Alabama, that round gentleman in white vest and tails, who talks more and louder but says less than any one on the senate floor.

Downstairs these young Americans are shown the longest corridor in the world. They are led to a solemn old grandfather clock standing in a corner just outside of the senate chamber and are told how it has ticked away the time on that same spot for years and years.

Their guide leads them down a long corridor to the house side of the building and explains that this is known as the tobacco corridor because it is faced with brownish marble. He takes them into the gallery of the house chamber and they look down upon some two or three hundred gentlemen gestulating and shouting at each other or off in corners with heads together, talking about nobody knows what.

Led from spot to spot with scant opportunity to breathe, the youngsters are finally tumbled out of the capitol into buses awaiting them and are whirled off to the Lincoln Memorial, the bureau of printing and engraving, the new National Museum or some other house of wonders. But many times they pause sufficiently long on the capitol steps to be photographed with their senator or representative.

Senators and representatives like to pose with these groups of young people from back home. They may be fighting mad in the senate or house chamber, but when told that a delegation of future constituents awaits them they iron out the wrinkles of surly chagrin and straighten their tie.

They beam, chuckle, speak a few words of sober, fatherly advice and then pose in the front row of this cluster of young bodies, happy in the thought that the photographs in the newspapers the next day will reveal them tall, kindly, benign, fatherly, democratic, on friendly terms with young America.

Despite the fact that these young pilgrims while in the capital city are hurried from place to place, they see a great deal and acquire much more than yellow canes and souvenir badges. A few years ago the youngster of high school age was scarce who could boast of first-hand acquaintance with the nation's capitol, but these Easter excursions have done much to carry familiarity with Washington into every community of the country.

And so Washingtonians now are preparing—and with pleasure—for their many young visitors who will come during the rest of April. Hotels air unusual rooms, souvenir peddlers enlarge their stock, yellow canes become more in evidence, congressmen put on their best smiles, guides do their best to better their endurance—in fact, all of Washington prepares to entertain the youth of the nation.

There is hope for any young man who is willing to unlearn what he thinks he knows.—Detroit News.

WANTS FARM WORK FOR PRISONERS

(International News Service)
SAN QUENTIN, Cal., April 4.—Farm work for convicts to keep them busy while they serve their prison terms was urged here by Warden James B. Holohan of San Quentin prison.

Holohan would like to see the State establish a prison farm where prisoners could do gardening and farming, receiving small wages for their work as they do in the prison road camps.

The problem of finding constant work for San Quentin's 4500 prisoners is ever-present in the warden's mind. The prison is crowded, with more than a thousand men working outside the walls at present, most of them on highway construction and maintenance.

"If the state would establish a farm for convicts it would solve one of our biggest problems," Holohan said today. "The produce raised could be consumed in state prisons and other institutions, and the outdoor work would be good for the men engaged."

Woman Prayed For Husband's Death; Divorce Reveals

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—When she married David Wilson, Mrs. Wilson had her fingers crossed and the matrimonial sea of the Wilsons has been very rough ever since.

Wilson recently declared in court that when he objected to his wife's unwelcome conduct, she told him that she had her fingers crossed when the knot was tied and for that reason it wasn't really tied.

The husband said that her parting words each morning expressed the hope that he would be ground to pieces under a railroad train before his day's work was ended. He secured a divorce.

Wynn Carries Cigar Lighter With Matches Attached

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Dramatic Editor.

NEW YORK, April 4.—If what the world needs are more clowns then Ed Wynn is more than a spot in the sun. This king of the ridiculous is the vortex of "Simple Simon", Florenz Ziegfeld's latest musical experiment in beauty.

Here are some of Wynn's whimsies:

"Do you have caviar?"

"No, but I can give you a plate of tapoca and a pair of dark glasses."

"Why were you late?"

"I was shaving and talked myself into a shampoo and a massage."

"Business is looking up—it's flat on its back."

The chorus numbers are like rainbows on horseback. There is a "Hunting Ballet" in flaming red costumes with Harriet Hoctor, danseuse, giving an exquisite performance.

There is a striking rags-and-tatters numbers which is music to the eye as well as to the ear.

Then there is Ruth Etting, the girl with the voice like sleighbells. She sings a song called "Ten cents a dance" about the hostess in a Broadway dance palace. She is forever hoping for "her hero". But all she gets are sailors and bowlegged tailors.

The way Miss Ettings sings it makes a Broadway folksong.

The jacket of the book is more interesting than the contents. The plot concerns a romantic dream that Simple Simon undergoes. It mixes fairyland with Greek mythology.

However, I suppose all is fair in love and dreams.

Speaking of this last form of amusement, there is a dream of a dancer in the feather-toed person of Doree Leslie who plays Cinderella.

People in glass houses shouldn't live within a stone's throw of the station.

Mother Gets $22,000 For Catcher's Death

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, April 4.—Mrs. Josephine Lorian, mother of the late Walter "Peck" Lorian, catcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, has been awarded $22,000 damages in her suit against the Hecht Company.

A truck owned and operated by the Hecht Company struck and fatally injured the young catcher on October 22 last.

A bendable glass has been invented. Now a man need not worry when he sits down with a flask in his hip pocket.—Florida Times-Union.

JAMES WATT, AN INSTRUMENT MAKER FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW, IS REGARDED AS THE INVENTOR OF THE MODERN STEAM ENGINE. ASKED TO REPAIR ONE OF NEWCOMEN'S MODELS, WATT BECAME INTERESTED IN STEAM POWER AND BEGAN A DEEP STUDY OF THE SUBJECT AND TO MAKE EXPERIMENTS (1763).

WATT SUCCEEDED IN CREATING AN ENGINE THAT WAS FAR SUPERIOR TO NEWCOMEN'S. AMONG OTHER IMPROVEMENTS OVER THE EARLIER TYPE, HE INVENTED THE SEPARATE CONDENSER AND A CRANK FOR GIVING A ROTARY MOTION TO THE PISTON ROD. WATT ENGINES SOON CAME TO BE WIDELY USED.

BEFORE THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, ONE OF WATT'S ENGINES WAS BROUGHT TO THIS COUNTRY FROM ENGLAND. IT WAS SET UP AT BELLEVILLE, NEAR NEWARK, NEW JERSEY, AND USED FOR PUMPING WATER FROM A COPPER MINE.

Pennsylvania Railroad System Championships To Be Decided At Jolly Bowl; Central Region And Western Division Opposes Eastern Division And New York Zone; Thirty Two Athletes To Participate In Eight Boxing And Eight Wrestling Events To Start At 8:15 P. M.

Thirty two amateurs, 16 boxers and an equal number of wrestlers, will strive tonight to capture titles when the P. R. R. system boxing and wrestling championships are held at Jolly Bowl. According to the athletic time-table eight pugilistic and eight mat bouts will be staged.

It is not yet known if C. I. Leiper, general manager of the Pennsylvania system will attend the meet but it is natural to presume that if executive duties do not command his time in Pittsburgh the railroad chief will be at the ringside to watch the wrestlers and boxers.

Giants Must Speed Up To Catch Cubs This Year

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—When the New York Giants swing into the big town to start the National league season they will be possessed of pennant hopes, harbor second place possibilities and be conscious of the fact that they may finish no better than third.

At this time the Cubs look too strong for the McGrawmen. In other words, what improvement has taken place in the ranks of the New York players does not now seem sufficient to place them even with the league champions.

However, the Giants can well expect to beat out the Pittsburgh Pirates for the second berth though a weak line in the New York batting line could easily give the Pirates the advantage and relegate the Giants to the third position.

Giants' Needs
To put up a strong battle against the Cubs the Giants need a smart outfield, better defense at second and first-class pitching.

The outfield is probably John McGraw's greatest worry. For one thing he has had to experiment through out the training season with Chick Fullis, Johnny Mostil and George Fischer, in hope of finding a logical successor to Edd Roush, veteran center fielder, who remained outside the fold, preferring to hold out rather than sign to Giants' salary terms.

Infield, Pitching

Bill Terry at first base, Travis Jackson at short and Freddie Lindstrom at the hot corner are McGraw fixtures, tried and true. If Eddie Marshall comes through at second—then McGraw has no infield worries whatsoever.

The Giants were none too good at this important post last season. McGraw's Big Five pitchers are capable and should win a majority of their games. They are, Carl Hubbell, Bill Walker, Fred Fitzsimmons, Larry Benton and Joe Genewich. All of these lads have shown fine stuff in the past and if they come through together—then happy indeed ought the Giant fans be.

Frank Hogan and Bob O'Farrell are McGraw's best catchers.

McGraw has hitting strength in Terry, 372; Mel Ott, 328; Lindstrom, 318; Catcher Bob O'Farrell, 306; Frank Hogan, 299; Jackson, 294.

Next: New York Yankees.

Les Canadiens Hockey Champs

(International News Service)
MONTREAL, April 4.—The Stanley cup, emblematic of world's premier hockey honors, was returned to Canada today by the brilliant Les Canadiens. Showing a superior team almost throughout, the Canadiens defeated the Boston Bruins here last night 4 to 3. They piled up a 4 to 1 lead in the first two periods.

A closing rally, which saved the Bruins from a humiliating defeat, climaxed with a red light showing the puck in the net but the referee did not allow the score, claiming the puck had been kicked in by Cooney Weiland of Boston, leading scorer in the National Hockey league.

To break the prejudice against the idea, cremations are being offered in Glasgow, Scotland, at $20 each.

"Cannonball" Baker May Seek To Set Up Racing Speed Mark

Official Confirmation Lacking That Baker Will Succeed Kaye Don

(International News Service)
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 4.—Confirmation of reports that "Cannonball" Baker, an American, would succeed Kaye Don, Englishman, as driver of the English racing car "Silver Bullet" in an effort to establish a new world's automobile speed record, was lacking today. At the camp of the Englishmen, W. S. Strum, manager of Don, denied the report and other backers of the Don campaign refused to comment.

Don was expected to arrive here today from Miami Beach. He has announced he will continue his quest of a new record as soon as the beach course here is in more favorable condition for a record run.

Kandy Kids Take First Battle Of Series For Title

Wampus Kandy Kids Defeat Lowellville High 43 To 14 In Series Battle

The Wampus Kandy Kids gave a good drubbing to the Lowellville high School "5" when they were subdued by a 43-14 score in the first game of a series to decide the Western Pennsylvania-Eastern Ohio championship for Juniors in the 50 pound class. The game was very interesting during the first half but with the beginning of the second half, one player on the Lowellville quintet showed the white feather and gave up, from this point on the Wampus team had a good practice, and scored at will. This same player, Shevets, sunk the Wampus team in the tournament at Beaver Falls about ten days previous but his exhibition of basketball on the Wampus floor could have been excelled by any fast midget player and his team mates were a disgusted bunch when the game had been finished.

With the beginning of hostilities, the game was a close guarding game and the fans settled back to see a close game. Wampus took the lead when Boone sunk a free toss and followed up with a pretty shot from the side of the court but Lowellville Hi came right back and registered two free tosses by Shevets. The game grew faster and when the first period was history, the Wampus team was riding the crest of a 7 to 4 score. During the second chapter, the defence of the Wampus team tightened and the Ohio team was held to a lone field goal by Coppola. The Kandy Kids counted four points during this ten minutes setto and when the half had ended, were still on top, 12 to 6.

With the beginning of the second half, the Wampus team counted two baskets in quick order and it was at this point that "Shevets" demoralized the Lowellville team and sent them down to the worst defeat they have suffered this year. During this period nearly every one of the Kids scored and subs were injected throughout. The third period ended with the Ohio quintet on the short end of a 25 to 10 count. During the last quarter, the Wampus Team counted 18 points while their opponents scored 4 but these 10 points were registered with the subs in command of the situation. Boone, White and Aiello played a bang-up game for the Western Penna. Jr. champs while the playing of Burke featured as this had never gave up during any part of the game. Friday night, the second game of the series will be played at Lowellville on the High School floor and a large delegation of rooters are expected to accompany the "Kids".

Telephone Boys To Tackle Mushball

New Castle Industrial Mushball League Now Has Thirteen Teams—Want One More

This Mushball Industrial league seems to be growing by leaps and bounds. Today the Bell Telephone company team asked to join the league and were given permission. The "Hello" boys will be managed by Ralph P. Davis and one other player it is understood.

The officials of the league feel that they cannot bar anyone from playing and for that matter there is secret pride among the officials over the enthusiasm being shown the league. It is earnestly hoped that another team can be secured for the league to make in a fourteen team league. Last year there were eight teams, and there are six more this year. It will not be many years until more than one league will be necessary.

The franchises are still open for that fourteen team, so anyone desiring to enter can call "Bugs" Walther at the News 4000 any time during the day.

Westminster Not To Have Spring Grid Training; Camp Opens Sept. 1

Twelve Lettermen Will Be Available Next Fall For Team

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 4.—Westminster College will not have spring grid training this year although nearly every other college in the district seems in favor of spring drills. Not since 1928 have the Titans had spring training, and with 12 lettermen available for next fall it can be seen that early practice will not be missed.

Coach "Dike" Beede, in his fifth year as Titan grid mentor, will have from Monday, September 1 to Saturday, September 27 next fall in which to get his squad into shape. The first game of the season, with Edinboro State Teachers' College, will take place at New Wilmington, September 27.

In addition to Captain Russell Boone, center, Beede will have Harry Michaels, Ben Haldy, Samuel Merriman, Robert Deacle, and James Perrin for the backfield; and Donald Cleland, George Cebula, Glenn Rehfus, Richard Fuller, Harry Brownlee, Emmett Tweedy, Joseph Pipoly, David Morrison, William Armour, and Homer Dishong for the line. Boone, Michaels, Haldy, Deacle, Cleland, Cebula, Rehfus, Fuller, Brownlee, Pipoly, and Tweedy are lettermen.

Have Tough Card
Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald has arranged a nine-game schedule which will keep the Titans on the move every week. The season opens with Edinboro at home September 27. The Blue and White squad journeys to Washington and Jefferson, October 4. Allegheny will be met at New Wilmington October 11. October 18 will find the Titans at Grove City for the annual game with the old rivals, Slippery Rock State Teachers' College.

Only time will tell the quality of the new material which will report next fall. As matters now stand, however, there is every cause to be elated over the fine material on hand, but also every cause to fear that it will not be half enough for the strenuous campaign.

A zig-zag puzzle was made the subject of a sermon by Rev. Dalton-Golding in Stroud, England, recently.

"LOVE LIKE OURS CAN NEVER DIE," MUTTERED MARMADUKE, THICKLY.

"You'd be surprised," replied the sprightly Sophia. "With a rasping voice like yours, love is likely to fly out of the window and land on the back of its neck. What our love needs is insurance."

"What insurance?" he wondered.

"The insurance of OLD GOLDS, boy friend. Throat-ease and tender tones caused by the mellow, mild, heart-leaf tobacco; vocal cords that act without a struggle; no tickle, scratch or scrape. OLD GOLD yourself, Marmie, and we shall be inseparable. There's not a bark in a billion."

Knute Rockne Is Undermining His Health Is Claim

Famous Notre Dame Coach Has Big Heart; Cannot Say "No" To His Friends

Many Believe That Rockne Should Not Take Charge Of Spring Grid Training

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 4.—According to the diagnosis from his bedside, Knute Rockne is suffering from asthma and "cold" and doubtless he is, but everybody close to the man knows that this doesn't end the story of why Rockne, a robust specimen in the prime of life, remains steadfastly ill in the face of expert care and attention. It doesn't even finish the preface.

Rockne is suffering from a malady that is practically extinct in an age where innate politeness is regarded with marked suspicion. It is called "Big Heart" by those who know it, only by rumor and innuendo and no doctor can treat it because both, by experience and personal instinct, he knows nothing about it, besides, it isn't a disease, it's a very admirable quality. Rockne simply is paying the price of his popularity and the latter's terms are always exorbitant.

Has Big Heart
He is an eloquent man but he doesn't know the shortest word in the language. He can't say "No." Therefore, every time he begins to recuperate, somebody comes running with an axe that is looking for an unwary grindstone and promptly "promotes" Rockne back to what the realists call a bed of pain. Speech making, personal appearances and indred molestations are the things that really have retarded Rockne's recovery, not the septic state of his blood.

It is all very simple. He stands on his feet for an hour and then lies up on his shoulder blades for a week. In brief, he seems to be playing put-and-take with destiny on the opposite side of the board.

Rockne, of course, has been something of an incorrigible patient since he was stricken early last fall. He loves life so well that he can't stay away from it and, to him, life is largely represented by Notre Dame football. Twice during the 1929 season he took trips with the team against his better judgment and each time he paid the grim price of a long tedious recovery.

Is In Florida
Then he went South to Miami and for a time his improvement was cheerfully rapid. But again his enthusiasm for life crept upon him with stealth and guile and wantonly betrayed him. The writer knew of his recent release before the face became public but forebore to write about it rather than write of the man in a pessimistic vein. The whole world seems to feel that way about Rockne. Even his brother-coaches, intensely rivalrous as they are, make no secret of the fact that they are worried about him. Some of them feel that he shouldn't go through with his plan to take charge of spring practice at South Bend, although everybody knows that it is in the spring that Rockne lays the corner stone for the stately structure that rears its head the following fall.

Some of them even feel that Rockne ought to retire for a year. One might be justified in trying to persuade this arch-enthusiast to do this if one first took the precaution to hit him resolutely with a meat axe.

For several weeks, Coach "Ky" Ebright has had his University of California stalwarts mastering aquaplane-churned waters. Scores of lithe, youthful six-footers are all trying to make the eight positions in the varsity crew, which will soon row the University of Washington huskies.

This Spring, Coach Ebright has been inveighing publicly against the difficulties of crew practice in waters that are so often whipped into ocean waves by the wash from large and small passenger planes leaving and landing at a local coastal airport. The roar of giant motors all but silences and seem to mock the megaphoning of "Ky" and the pull of his schoolboy rowers, who would develop speed in primitive and puny fashion near a noisy nest of mammoth man-made birds.

However, reports have it that Ebright's "Golden Bears" have shown fine form throughout their shell-tossed trials. Most Californians are confident that they will humble Washington, whose fame, especially

Battle Of Century To Be Waged Saturday For High Twelve Pool Title

Final arrangements have been completed for the 100 point pool match which will be fought out at 4 p. m. Saturday, April 5, at the High Twelve club at the Cathedral, between Bating (Bill) Klee and Klondike (Albert) Street.

The match has been brewing for some time, and the antagonists have, under the care of their trainers, been putting in strenuous licks during the past two weeks getting in trim for the battle.

The match is for a purse of $15.50 (estimated) and the proceeds of the match will be turned over to some deserving charity. The charity will be named by the referee at the opening of the match. At the same time also the referee will announce the rules which will govern the match, necessary additional rules being made from time to time as the match proceeds.

H. B. Richards has been secured to referee the match as it is felt that his selection will automatically eliminate any disputes as to the rules, or the enforcement of the same.

Doctor John McConahy is manager of the affair, assisted by a very strong committee, and they report that reservations are being made which will tax the capacity of the bleachers.

Delegations of partisan followers of the contestants are expected in from outlying districts in addition to large numbers of local enthusiasts.

In addition to the ordinary interest in the affair, the loser of the contest is to supply a buffet lunch with trimmings for the spectators.

Chicago Swimmers Set New Record
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 4.—The 400-yard relay team swimming under the colors of the Chicago Athletic association today held a new world's record in the event.

The new record holders splashed over the 400-yard course here last night in the A. A. U. championships in 3 minutes 39.1-5 seconds. The record clipped four seconds off the old mark held by Yale university.

The New York Athletic club team, defending champion, finished second and the Hollywood Athletic club third. Tom Blankenburg of the Hollywood Athletic club won the national 220-yard breast stroke title, with Al Horn of Chicago second and Leonard Spence of the New York Athletic club third.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Any one passing The Castleton last night might have wondered why the entertainment and all the food. Just a little party the Walves were throwing for Charley Margiotti, who the lads from Punxsutawney claim is as good as Mussolini ever was. Up around Canoe Ridge where the ground hog plays hide and seek with the February sun, they list their heroes about like this: Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Garibaldi, Marconi, Mussolini and Margiotti.

Perhaps that is a wee bit strong, but you know how friends are and at that there is a lot of reason for listing him with some of the lads in the list above. Napoleon went out and did his executing with his armies, Margiotti convinces a jury that they should do it.

There was as fine a piece of sportsmanship demonstrated at the banquet last night as I have seen in many a day. Attorney Thomas W. Dickey was on the other side from Margiotti in the Schroeder-Dague cases. In spite of this Mr. Dickey sent a gorgeous basket of roses to his former opponent. It was a gesture of friendship from one sportsman to another, a gesture that marks the calibre of the man who could do such a thing.

Signs of spring. Flower displays in the florists—highway advertisements in the papers—a smell of mothballs around the house—threats of spring cleaning—spring lamb on the menu—wonder what spring they mean—curses pushing their lovely heads up—police dogs shedding their hair all over visitors—robins twittering in the trees and young ladies twittering over the new styles—wonder when the park benches will be out again.

Heard in a local screen palace the other evening: "Well, it must be an old picture for the girls have on short skirts."

The Jolly bowl gets them tonight. A whole evening of push and pull—pushing in the face and pulling around the mat. The Pennsylvania railroad is holding its championship boxing and wrestling bouts and you can guess where the fans will be.

Jumping from one thing to another, you might just mark off Sunday afternoon for the men's mass meeting in the First Presbyterian church. This man John Hamilton, the speaker, is said to be a two-fisted evangelist who wallops sin on the button. Sort of working to beat the devil, I suppose.

A reader of this column (yes, there are some) remarks that she doesn't like the suggestion that this effort is chiseled out, mentioning a crack of yesterday. Lissen, lady, there are some days in the life of a columnist when he would plagiarize Burke's Conciliation if he thought nobody had ever read it, and at times like that, chiseling is the word.

However, in justice to the term Chiseler, let it be said that there is a difference in the meaning sometimes. A genuine blower in the bottle Chiseler is one of these lads who is always chiseling things from his friends. Cigarettes, matches, lunches, everything but advice. A Chiseler is differentiated from a Kabitzer by the fact that a Kabitzer believes it is better to give than to receive, as long as it doesn't cost anything.

A couple of local Chiselers met at dinner the other evening, and all went well until the check came. After sitting there for a couple of hours, one of them went to the phone and called up his wife. "Don't wait up for me," said he, "I'm in a conference and it looks like a deadlock."

The buttons on my vest are being subjected to a severe strain these days. Every time I meet a stranger he invariably opens up with "Well, you folks in New Castle certainly clamp down on criminals. It must be a tough place in which to commit crime."

To my mind—correct me if I'm wrong—that is a compliment to New Castle and Lawrence county. I hope the day comes when it gets so tough in this county that when a gun toter begins to get ideas about throwing lead into some one, that he will get a clear picture of a chair they have in Rockview.

It's all very well to be moanin' low about criminals who never had a chance, but once they get the idea that murder goes hand in hand with the electric chair in Lawrence county, they are going to find it much easier to suppress their murderous instincts.

A school of dolphins traveling more than sixty miles from the sea up the Yangtze river recently visited the inland port of Chekiang—an evil omen, according to the Chinese.

P. H. C. Members Hear Fine Reports

Membership Campaign Is Showing
Excellent Result,
Secretary Reports

Unusually well attended was the session held by New Castle Circle No. 5 Protected Home Circle on Wednesday night and especially interesting to the members was the reports of several committees regarding the progress work for "the good of the order." Secretary L. E. Dandy made an excellent report for the membership campaign committee assuring the circle of a large class for initiation at the close of the race when an elaborate dinner will be served by the losing team.

Past president and trustee L. E. Dandy reported for the memorial committee and stated that the service for departed members would be held on Sunday evening May eleventh in the Epworth M. E. church with the memorial sermon by Rev. S. L. Maxwell the pastor. The memorial service for deceased members is always of the most impressive character and the committee appreciates the courtesy of the church and its pastor in holding the service there. Further arrangements will be announced later.

It is quite necessary that members intending to take the inner circle degree be exemplified in the Temple at Sharon on the 24th. report to Deputy Wm. J. Shirey at the next regular meeting of the circle, owing to the large number of visiting circles to be present at the ceremonies it is important that Deputy Shirey knows how many banquet tickets to secure for the New Castle delegations.

It was the pleasure at the recent meeting for the circle to have as a guest, Brother P. Henderson of Greensburg Circle 142. Brother Henderson gave the members an excellent address along fraternal lines and was enthusiastically received and a social hour closed the session with bingo and dancing.

LILLIE B. JONES, Secretary.

Driver Hits Woman, Keeps On Going

SHARON, Pa., April 4.—Mrs. Julia Fitzgerald, 34, of Ohio street, was injured about the back when a car driven by Michael Mattes, River avenue, in which she was a passenger, was struck by an unidentified Ohio machine in South Irvine avenue. The driver of the Ohio car failed to stop after the mishap.

Nazarene Services Continue To Interest

The revival meeting being conducted in the Nazarene Tabernacle, Falls and Beer streets is growing in interest to the public.
Rev. James Rogers of East Palestine, Ohio, is nightly bringing helpful messages to those in attendance and the song service is conducted by the Cooper Trio, of Portsmouth, Ohio.
Thursday evening the singing of negro spirituals featured the song service.
Saturday evening there will be special street services preceding the regular meeting.

Ministers To Meet Monday In Y. M. C. A.

The Ministerial Association of New Castle will meet Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the library of the Y. M. C. A. with Dr. C. B. Winger as the speaker.

"The Poetry of the Gospels" will be the theme of Dr. Winger's paper and an interesting meeting is anticipated.
We know one man who, after debating long and earnestly with himself whether to give up carrots or spinach during Lent, finally decided to split the difference and give up both.
